It's "bottoms up" as the Blue Wave reaches a high point in an intensive fight for victory.

"Go! Go! Where? Where? We want a goal over there!" Hope's hockey team battles Burrillville.

"And you think you've got troubles?" The yearbook staff struggles to meet its first deadline.

"I don't care how big you are. I'm still the coach!" Mr. Mullen gives the football team a pep talk.

"Farewell cruel world!" Three overworked seniors take the easy way out of exams.

It's spring at last, but studying doesn't seem to be a task for Linda Howes and Steven Yoken.

Here's one boy who can break the state track record at the sound of the 2:30 bell.

"What's the story morning glory? What's the tale nightingale? Have you heard about Esmerelda and Hector?"

"C'mon now, don't be greedy with that watermelon," is the plea as Joe Gorman and Gil Ekdahl turn around to see what they are missing.

The morning gossipers gather on the front steps before school.

There may be for generations — Darkness, suffering, searing pain
Groping for light, frustration
Men will know the sin, the grief of Cain.
For this is Life, entwined with Death.
Yet fear not Eternity, face Tomorrow —
And grasp undying Hope,
As there will be for generations — Glory, splendor, lifted hearts,
Singing for joy, a chorus of nations
And then, men will know Brotherhood, unending Peace —

With this faith we dedicate this book.

in its gropings

Our hopes were high
Our strivings many Falterings were countless Discouragements overwhelming.
Through the encircling gloom
Friendly supporting hands reached out.
Slowly at first
Then gaining confidence
With each succeeding step
We began to sate our thirst for knowledge.
Though stumbling still
Our pace became surer,
Our fledgling wings stronger.
And now, behold,
With one last thrust
From compassionate guides
We are on our own,
Boldly confident of what
Tomorrow will bring.

the leaders

A school with the varied demands and requirements of Hope High depends first of all upon understanding and competent leadership. Hope is fortunate to have this in full measure.

Between them, Howard G. Lewis, principal, and Joseph

The leaders of Hope enter school after a short morning walk.

of hope

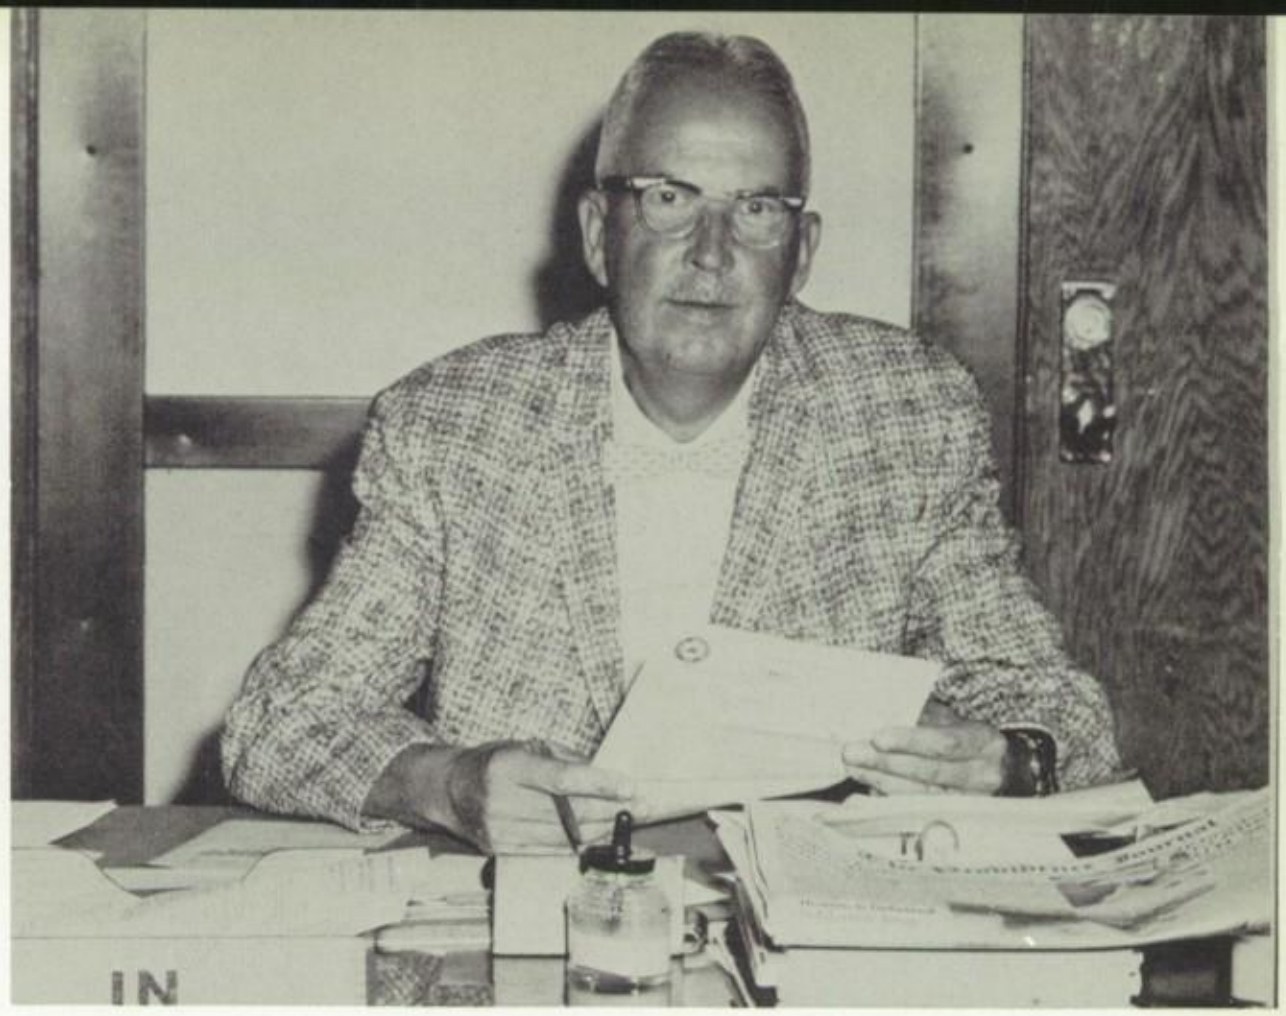
P. Delaney, vice-principal, have a wealth of training and professional experience. Their warm interest in the student, as well as in the school has helped to create an atmosphere which is relaxed and conducive to learning.



Without a minute to himself, Mr. Lewis, principal, works quietly and efficiently to keep Hope running smoothly.

Mr. Lewis and Mr. Delaney discuss the educational program at Hope before beginning their daily work.

Work and problems constitute a typical day for the vice-principal, Mr. Delaney.

Information anyone? The operators of the Hope library, Miss Katherine Gallivan, head librarian, and her assistant, Miss Ann Mason, cheerfully aid Hopeites in their quest for knowledge.

Teamwork is the motto of Miss Frances Sormanti, Miss Virginia West, Miss Mary K. Anderson, and Miss Nancy Hastie, who comprise Hope's diligent office staff.

Miss Mary Brennan, school nurse, helps to relieve the aches and pains of Judy Crowell.

hope helpmates lend a hand

At the center of Hope's activities are the people who keep everything running smoothly.

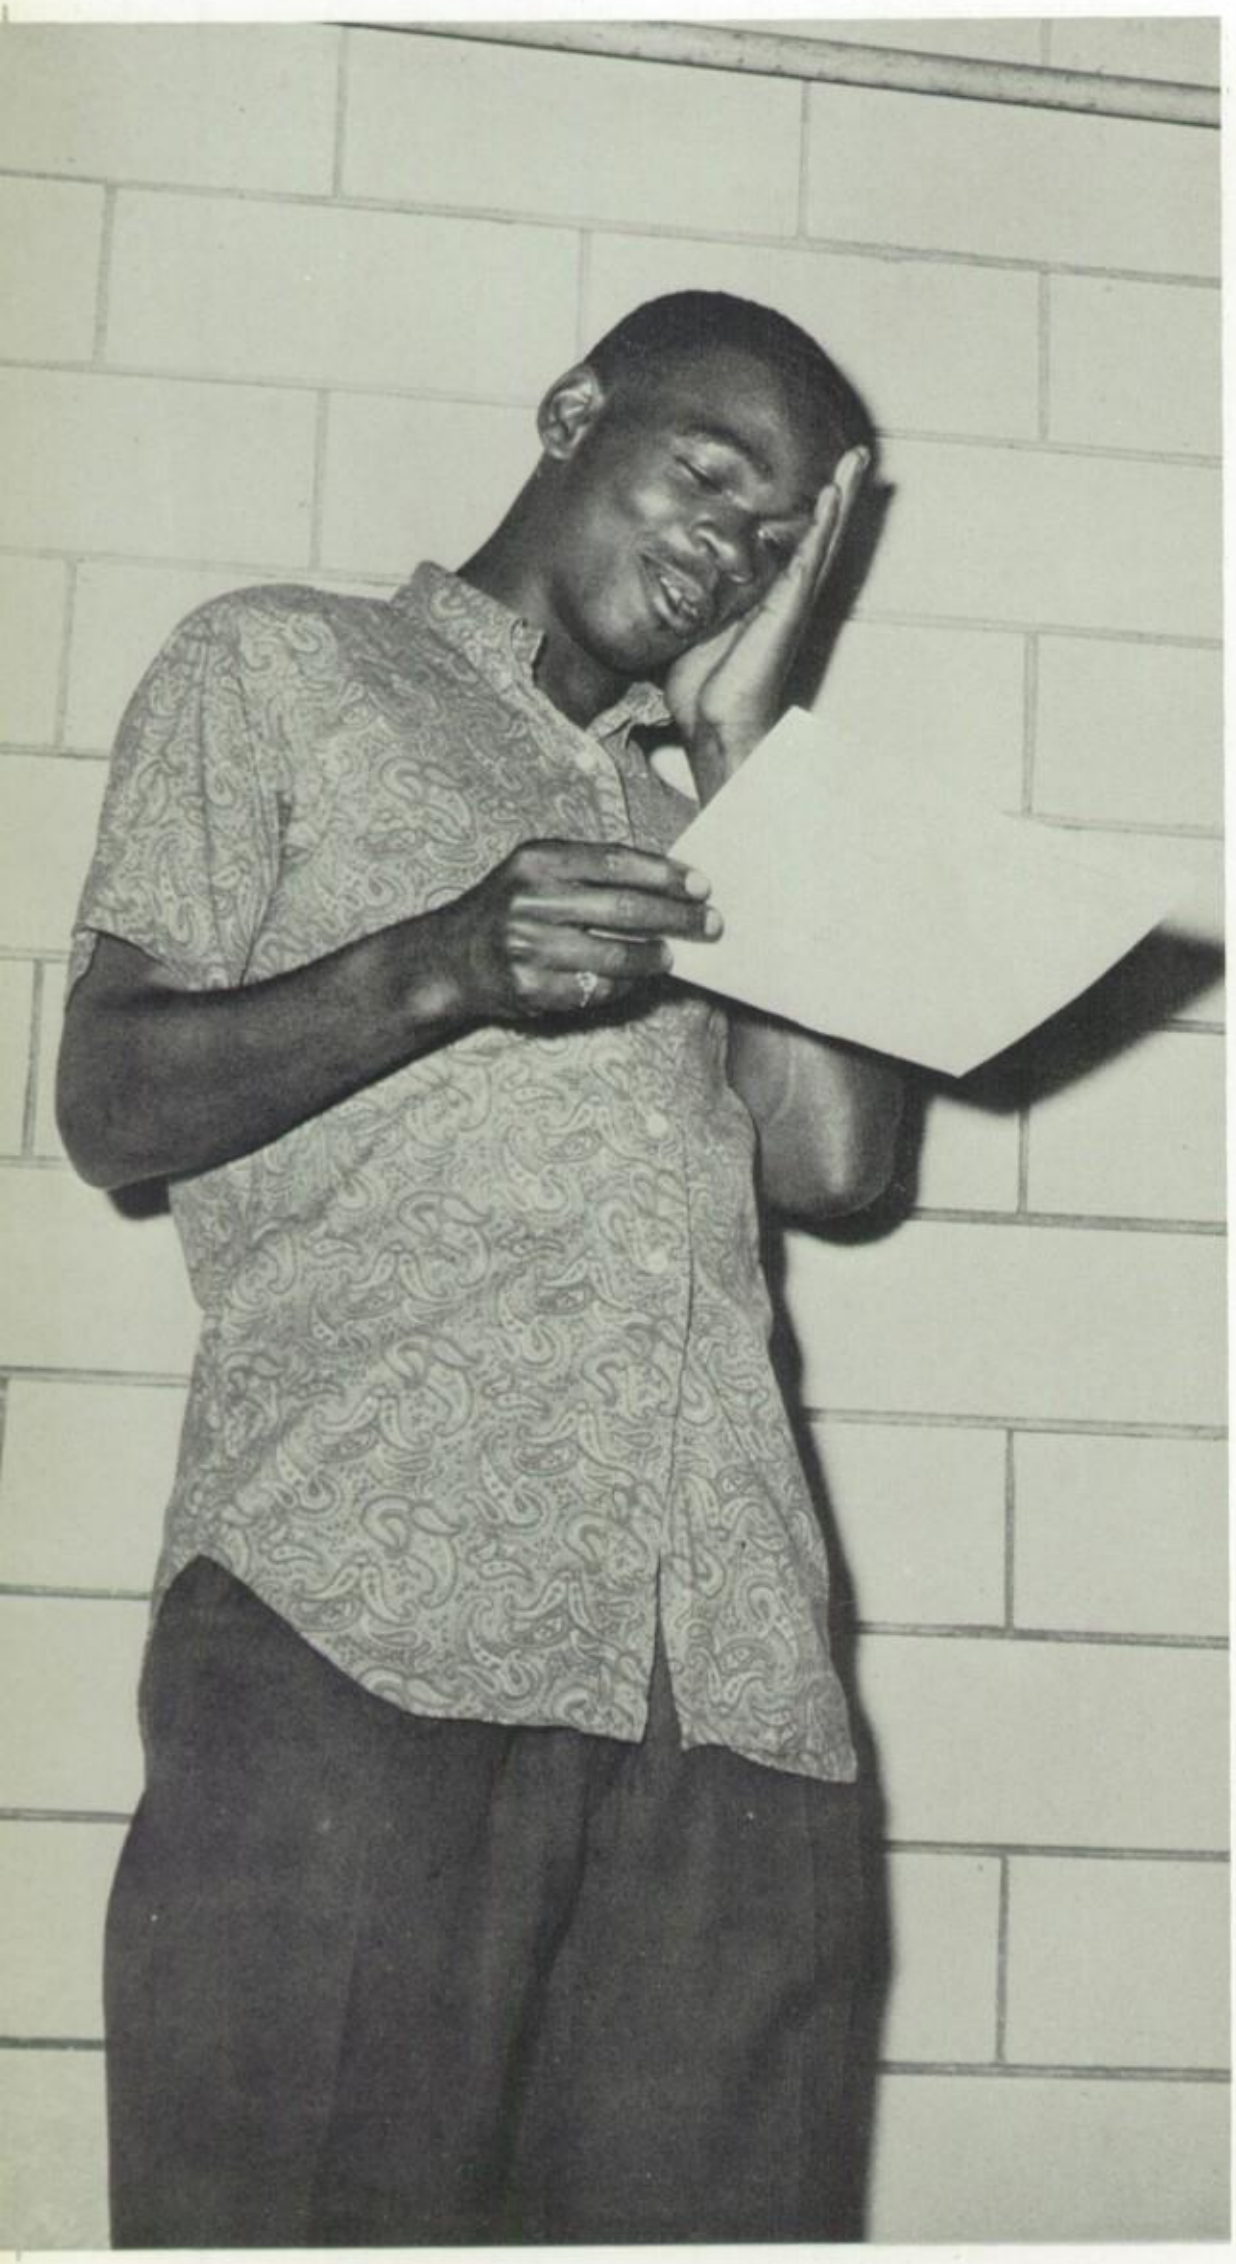
Vivacious, dynamic, effervescent—even these adjectives are not adequate to describe the enormous energies of Mrs. Marion Strauss, school coordinator. Constantly besieged by calls for help from the cheerleaders and student council, she still finds time to direct the senior plays and supervise the Junior Red Cross.

Headache, sore throat, sprained ankle — no matter what complaint, Miss Mary Brennan, the school nurse, is forever anxious to give a helping hand to ailing Hopeites.

Whether it be fact, fiction, history, or romance, Hope's library staff, headed by Miss Katherine Gallivan, is always ready to be of assistance.

"A place for everything and everything in its place" is the motto of Miss Mary K. Anderson and her capable office staff. Keeping track of lost and found articles, issuing late excuses, and organizing the general records keeps the office staff constantly busy.

Marion Strauss, school co-ordinator, finds time for a pleasant smile in the midst of senior play rehearsals.



"Oh no, I hope my guidance teacher doesn't put this on my record card," moans Herbie McMillan.

Individual problems become collective when the guidance staff consisting of Mr. Amadeo Lorenzo, Mrs. Alice Jernstedt, Mr. Paul Mirante, Mrs. Gertrude Kavanagh, secretary, Mrs. Mary Mulvey, Miss Edna Macdonald, department head, and Mr. Leo Weiss confer with each other.

the "guiding lights" show us the way

"Now, I know it's not that bad," says Miss Edna Macdonald, head of the department, as she consoles a worried student.

Fervently wishing for a twenty-five hour day, this dedicated staff, headed by Miss Edna Macdonald, endeavors to give each student the personal attention and counsel he requires.

Hammered with questions, questions, and more questions, this group provides the answers and the advice to help each student recognize his potential abilities and plan his future completely and intelligently.

The guidance office, amidst a scene of constant hustle and bustle, is the place where assurance is restored, hopes are lifted, and students are prepared to travel on and take their places in the future.

Finding Miss McDermott, head of the department, in her office is a rarity, for she devotes her time to aiding other English teachers.

the english department cultivates capitalization, comprehension, and compositions

Patience and perserverance are the passwords of the English department, who, under the leadership of Miss Angela McDermott, teach correct grammar usage, develop organization of thought and writing, and promote an interest and understanding of literature.

Each student gains a knowledge of grammar and literature which is important to everyday life.

Reading is an essential part of the English language, and a remedial reading course is offered those interested in increasing their reading speed and comprehension.

What student has not struggled with iambic pentameter, split an infinitive, or memorized the much quoted words of William Shakespeare? Yet, despite the stumbling blocks we encounter, our fine English teachers always succeed in making their classes most enjoyable and worthwhile.

Gathering to prepare final exams, the English teachers, Miss Elaine Annotti, Miss Edna Keenan, Mrs. Anne Carleton, Miss Martha Budlong, Mrs. Susan Franks, Mr. Paul Donovan, Mr. Paul Coleman, and Mr. James Flanagan discuss the problems involved.

The staff of the round table, Mr. William Plummer, Mr. James McCaughey, Mrs. Frances Meeker, Mr. William McKenna, Miss Angela McDermott, head of department, Miss Sarah MacIntyre, Mr. Matthew Millman, and Mr. Joseph Tocco assemble to thwart the problems that arise.

Deciding the fate of social studies students, Miss Anna C. Dowling, head of the department, records marks in her little green book.

"Where will we go on our next vacation?" Mr. Robert McMillan, Miss Agnes Ethier, and Mr. Frank Caprio hope to visit the places about which they teach.

Spinning around the world via the globe are Mr. William Falk, Miss Anna R. O'Connor, Mr. Paul Hartman, Miss Anna C. Dowling, department head, and Mr. James Coughlin.

social studies department presents the past and present

Events of the past and present are studied by Hope students, under the capable supervision of the social studies department, headed by Miss Anna C. Dowling.

The history courses at Hope are designed to give students a broad picture of man's development throughout the ages .

European history, American history, world problems, and civics compose the social studies curriculum.

These courses help students to realize that the events of the past give us an insight into the future.

At a meeting of the math masterminds, Mrs. Mary Sanderson, Mr. Edward McGunagle, Mr. Irving Wallack, Mrs. Elizabeth Wardell, Mr. Vito Campo, and Mr. Francis Cavarretta reflect on the day's activities.

the math department inspires logic

"I am happy to report that there are no delinquents," says Miss Mildred Collins, department head.

through linears

Figures are a permanent fixture in our environment; therefore, it is necessary for every student to have a basic knowledge of mathematics.

Hope's math department, headed by Miss Mildred Collins, endeavors to provide each student with a solid math foundation and more. Students showing mathematic potential are offered accelerated courses in which they have the opportunity to develop their skills. Starting with basic math, students climb into algebra and geometry, and some inquiring students involve themselves with the complicated figures of trigonometry, solid geometry, and calculus.

The math course at Hope is designed to aid in everyday life, to teach pupils to think logically, and to provide students who wish to go on in mathematics with an enriching, thorough background.

Reporting the progress of the advanced, accelerated, and experimental courses in math, Mr. John Keough and Mrs. Ruth Katz find Miss Mildred Collins delighted with the results.

the science

Science marches on, and leading the parade is the Hope science department, headed by Mr. Robert Gurnham.

This department endeavors to educate the students by delving into the mysteries of general science, biology, chemistry, and physics.

Systems are learned, symbols are memorized, and the theories are explained, as Hope's budding scientists explore further into the hidden depths of the world of science.

A test tube is broken, bones are misplaced, and explosions resound, but this is all insignificant in the quest for knowledge.

"Frogs are expensive this year, "thinks Mr. Robert Gurnham, department head, but he accepts inflation with resignation.

"Mighty plants from little seedlings grow," explains Dennis Ferrara.

"What would happen if pressed this little lever," say Miss Grace Arnold to Mr. C

department introduces the wonders of the world

You've got it apart, now how about putting it together? Mr. Joseph DiPalma, Mr. Robert Gurnham, department head, and Mr. Edward Cunningham puzzle over some new apparatus.

the foreign language department formulates fluency

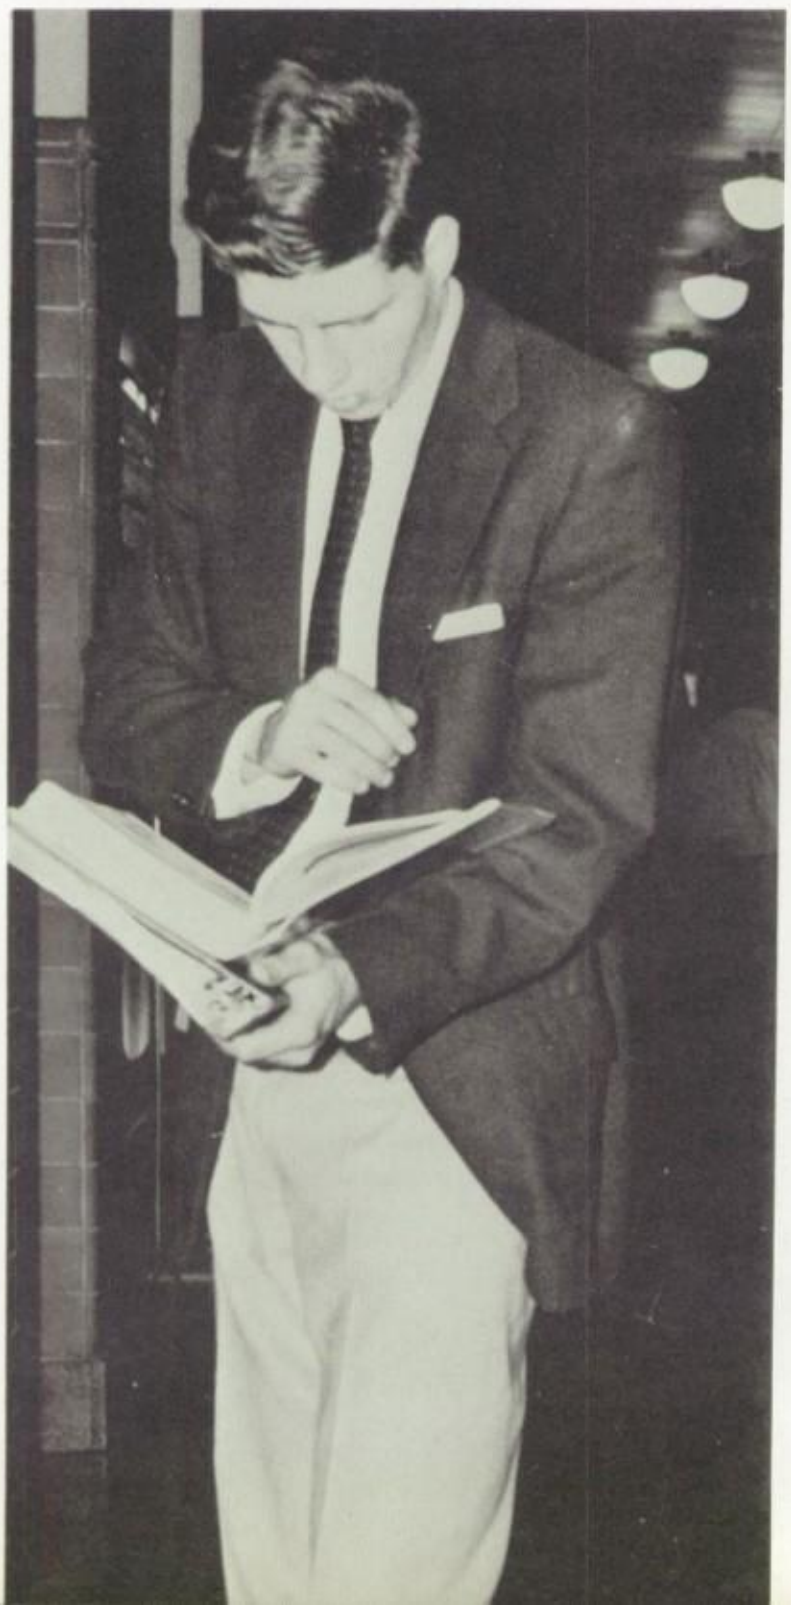
"Voulez-vous aller en France," queries Miss Rose Presel, department head.

Learning languages of other lands gives students the chance to learn more about other countries, and also about the basic origin of our own language. Hope's foreign language department, headed by Miss Rose Presel, offers complete and interesting courses in the modern languages of French, German, Italian, and Spanish. Mastery of these languages enables the student to become acquainted with great foreign literary works.

The language from which most others are derived is far from neglected. Mr. James Smith, chairman of the Latin department, finds more and more students who are interested in the language of Cicero and Caesar.

"To use the independent volitive, let the papers come forward," says Mr. James Smith, chairman of the ancient language department.

At a foreign language meeting are Miss Marjorie Ellis, Dr. Philomena Golini, Miss Rose Presel, department head, Mrs. Eleanor Zexter, Miss Priscilla Stevens, Miss Margaret Ellis, and Mr. Thomas Martin.



It's a last minute look at his French book for this worried foreign language student.

Needing four hands to complete her multitudinous chores is Miss Barbara Murray, department head.

Do you want to join the class? Miss Barbara Murray, department head, teaches Miss Ruth Carty, Mrs. Dorothy Sweeney, Mr. Robert Betts, Mr. Robert Scanlan, and Mrs. Hope Palmer.

"It's my turn next," says Mr. Charles McGonagle to Miss Mary Crowley while Mr. Joseph Grande, Mrs. Mary Winans, Mr. Charles Matoian, and Mrs. Linette Tammelleo wait impatiently.

the business department bustles at hope

Cokomok, Timbuctoo: Wanted: Hope graduates. Secretaries, bookkeepers, typists, business machine operators.

With the arrival of air travel, jet planes, and other swift means of transportation, many American industries have been able to establish branches in various parts of the world.

The Hope business department, headed by Miss Barbara Murray, realizes that the conduct of the personnel of these companies will reflect on our country; efficiency alone does not constitute a satisfactory worker. Therefore, the Hope business department strives to teach its students self-assurance, poise, and courtesy, as well as typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business math, burroughs, and consumers education. The training that students receive in the Hope business department insures them of success wherever they may go.

"You have to reach high in business," says Mr. Charles Matoian to Anthony Bicho.

Do you think we forgot to add the butter? Miss Florence McCart and Miss Mary Campbell wonder what happened to the cheese souffle.

Mobiles, murals, and mosaics are discussed by Mr. Anthony Dattorro and Miss Frances Burnham, department head.

followers at hope

Hopeites have the opportunity to develop their creative talents in the music, art, and home ecenomics departments.

For those interested in music, Hope offers excellent courses in music appreciation and history. Through these courses, taught by Mr. Benjamin Premack, Hopeites have the opportunity to appreciate and learn more about Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms.

Artistically inclined students have the chance to express their individuality in the art courses offered at Hope. The art department, headed by Miss Frances Burnham, has recently opened an accelerated program for especially creative students.

Being a successful housewife is all important. Hope offers home economic courses for girls interested in improving the important skills of cooking, sewing, and dress designing. Hope's home economic rooms are constantly buzzing with the activity of tomorrow's home makers.

Entranced by Beethoven's ninth, Mr. Benjamin Premack, chairman of the music department, is oblivious to all other activity.

artisans and athletes receive their training

The implements of industrial arts are discussed by Mr. William Ziegler, Mr. George Peterson, Mrs. Eliazbeth Busch, and Mr. Chester Ruoff.

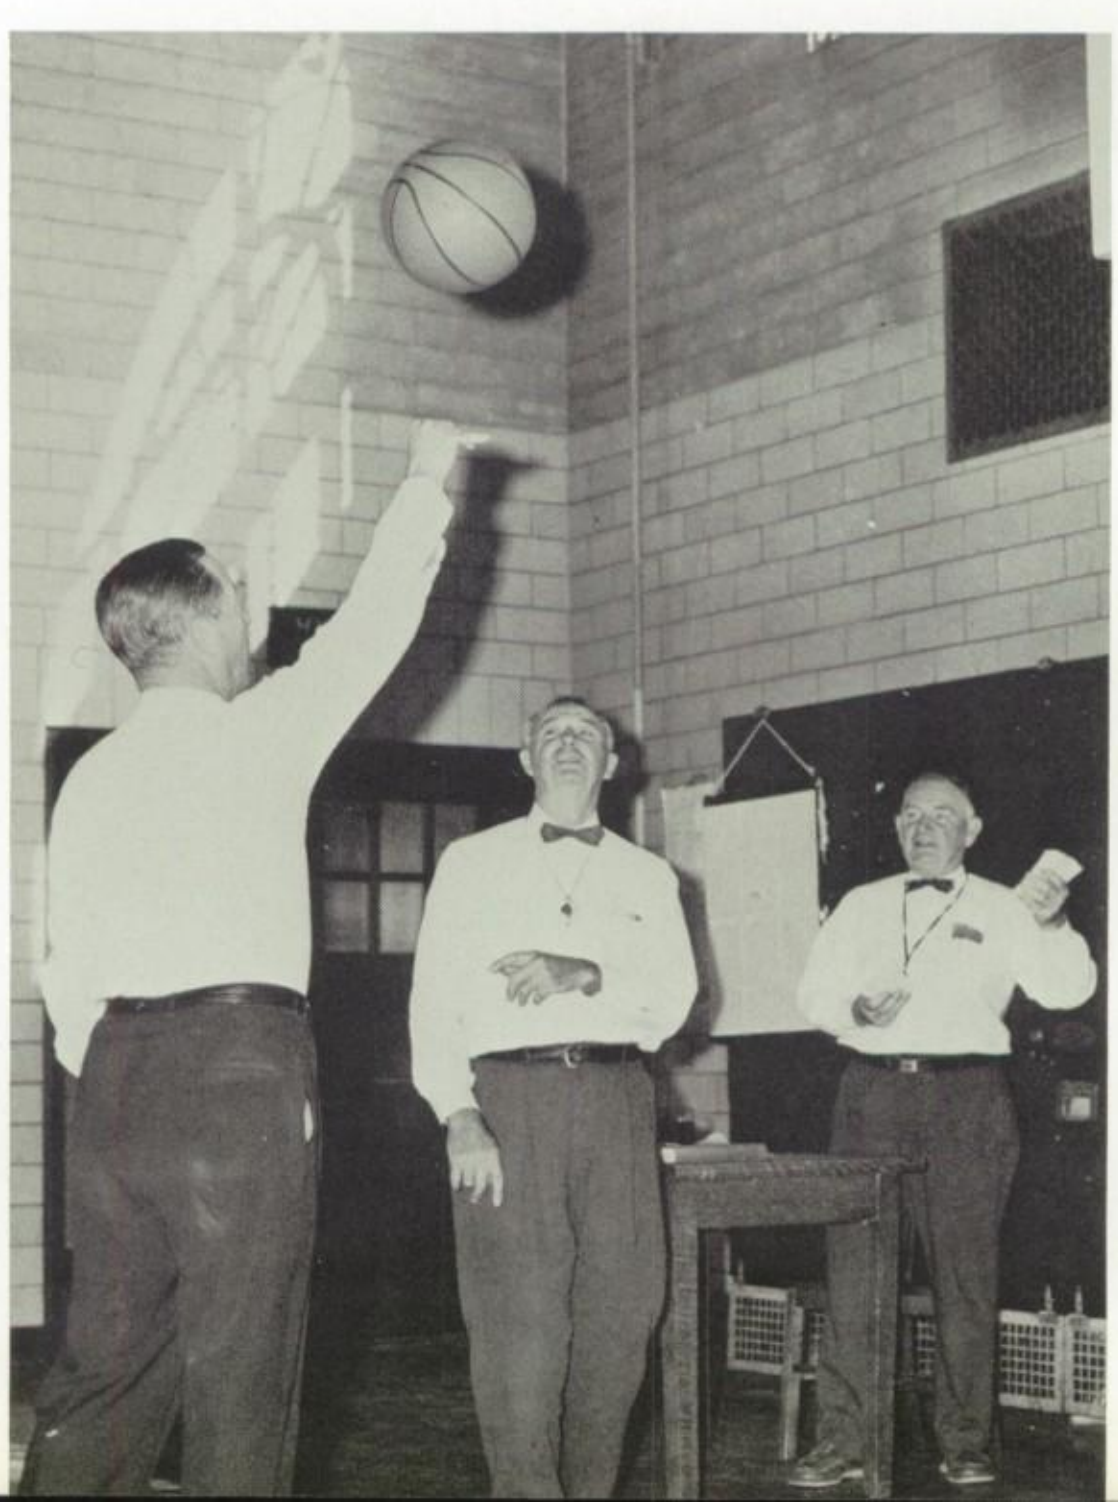
Skillfully creating, future tradesmen receive training in their chosen vocations through the efforts of the industrial arts department. Here, with modern tools and equipment, these boys develop their abilities and assemble individual projects.

The co-ordination of mind and muscle is the result of the productive hours spent in the gym. The response of the girls in blue to the call of the instructor at the end of the semester contrasts strongly with the awkwardness so apparent at the beginning of the term. The girls' gym instructors, under the chairmanship of Miss Agnes Flaherty, endeavor to teach their girls a sense of fair play and honest competition.

Not quite so graceful, but just as effective are the gymnastics of the boys, taught by a competent staff headed by Mr. Fred Davis. The cooperation betwen the students and the gymnasium instructors is an important factor in the development of character in the individual.

"Our classes certainly enjoyed apparatus today," agree Miss Helen Wrynn, Miss Bertha McKee, and Miss Agnes Flaherty, chairman of the girls' gym department.

Mr. John Fay, a teacher of special education, discusses the history of the western hemisphere.



Mr. Leroy Herman demonstrates the art of basketball to Mr. Fred Davis, chairman of the boys' gym department, and Mr. Ed Mullen.

Too many cooks spoil the broth, but this is not the case at Hope as the connoisseurs of the kitchen survey their day's work.

custodial corps merits credit

"Keep Hope neat and Hopeites nourished" is the motto of the custodial and cafeteria staffs.

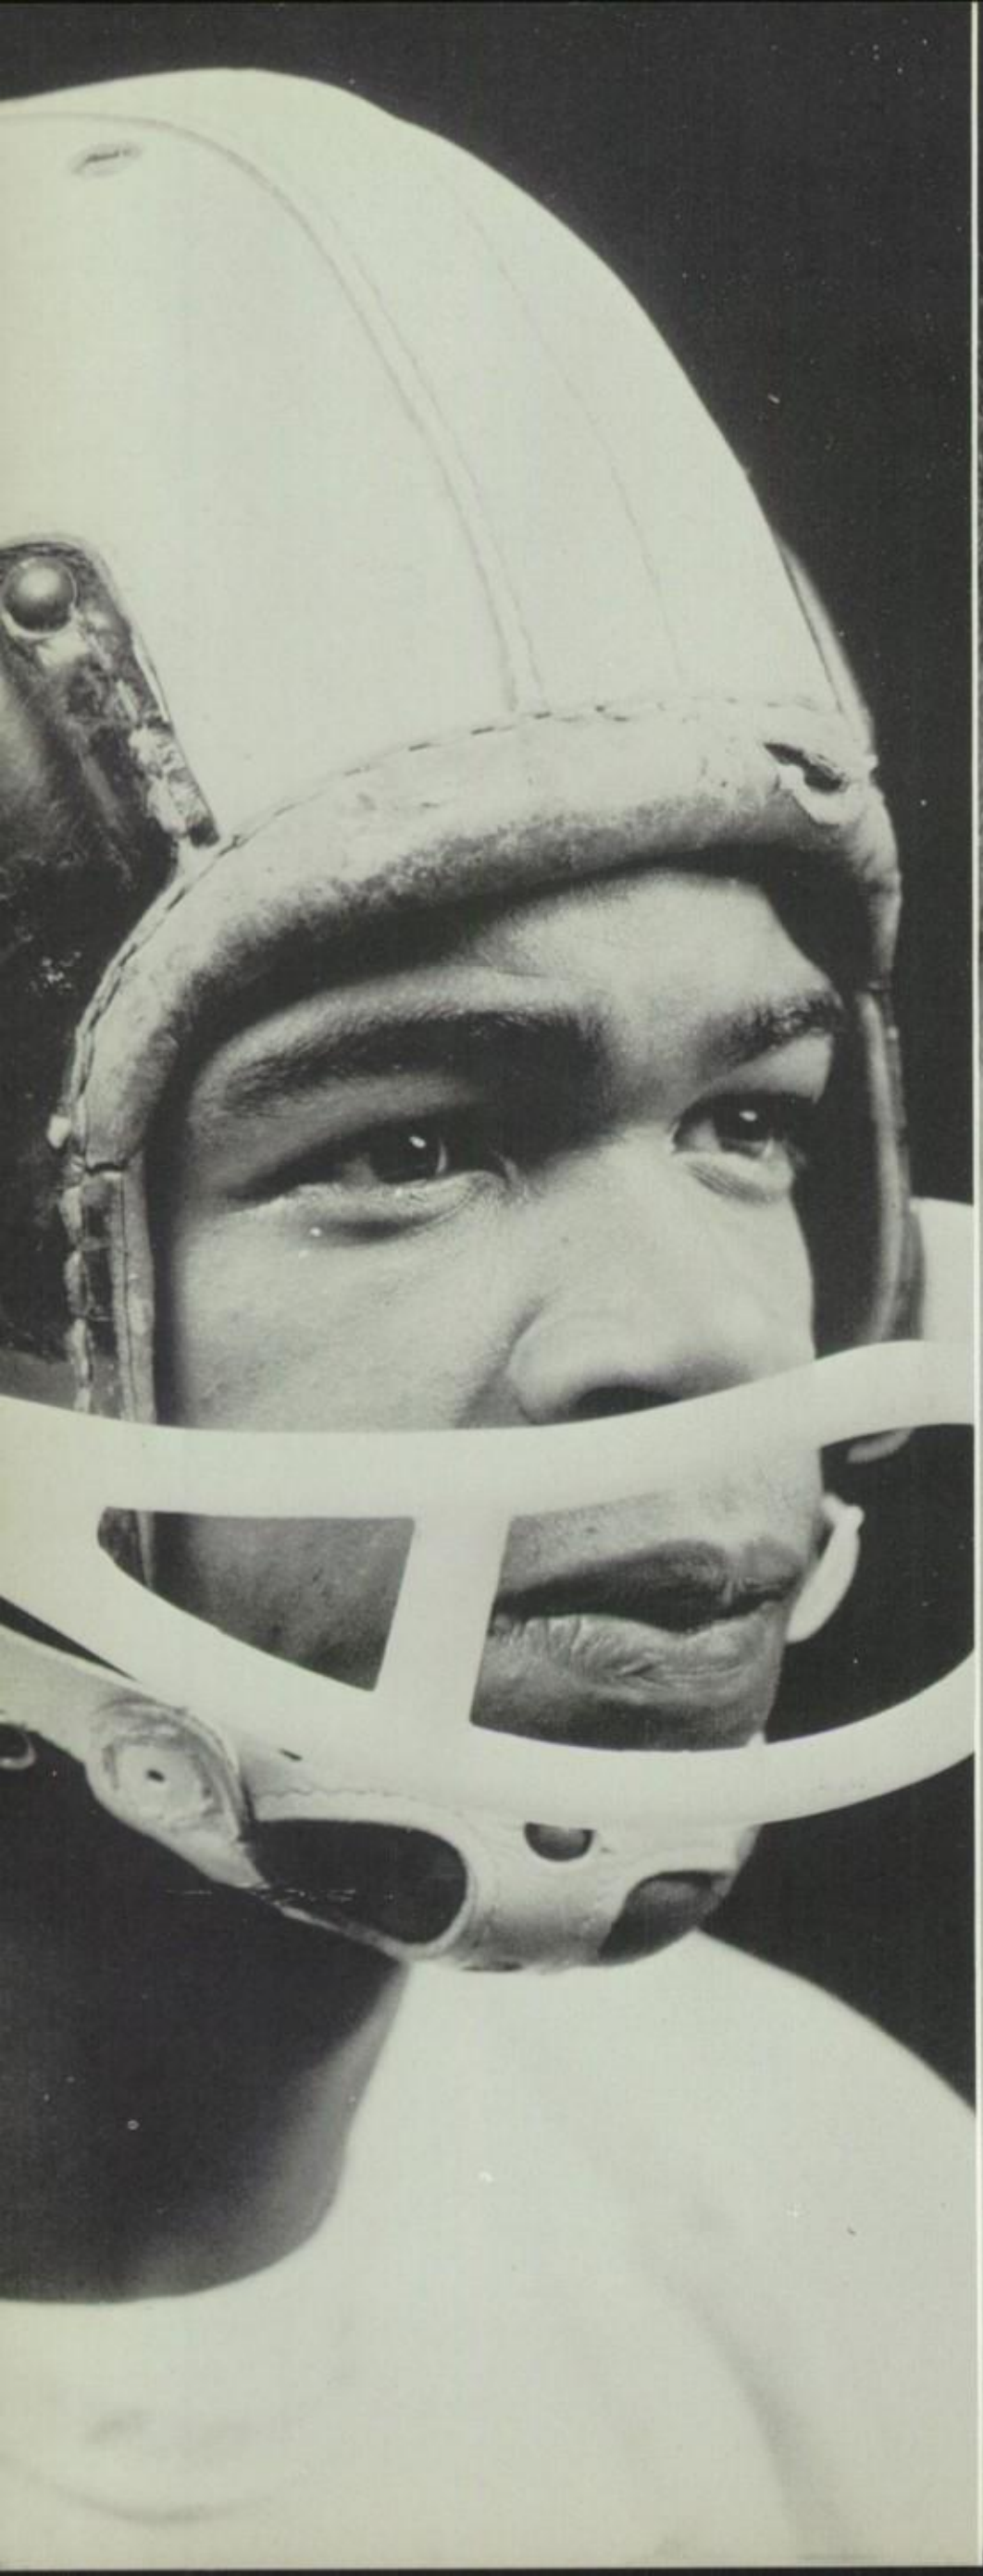
Those responsible for keeping the school clean, are Mr. Ralph Lombardi, and his energetic workers. Energy is definitely required to clean up after two thousand Hope students.

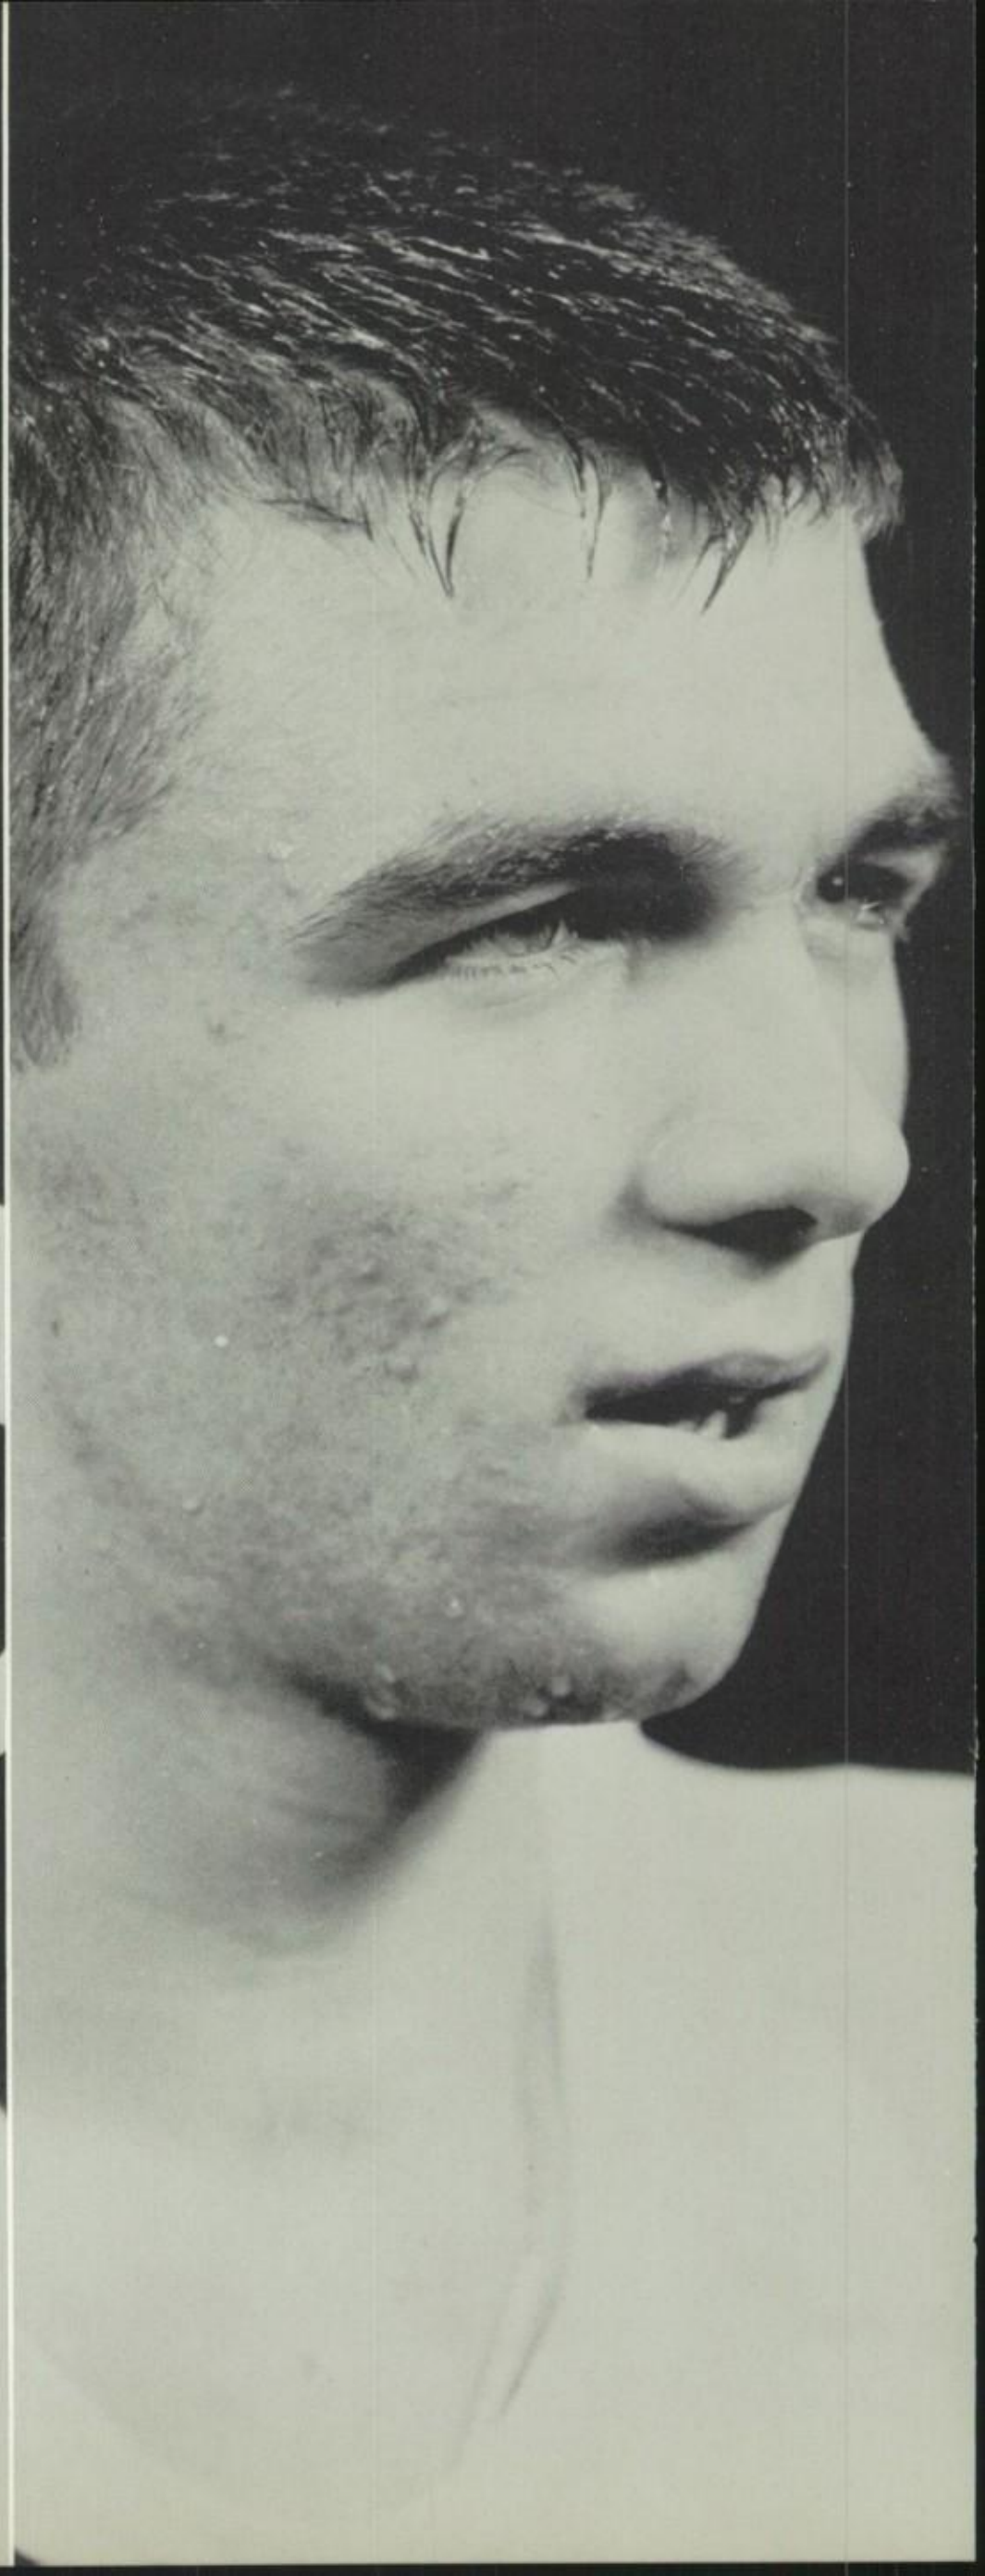
The dietary staff, headed by Mrs. Vivian Parker, keeps Hopeites filled with good food. Lunches, ice cream, milk, and cookies can all be obtained at the cafeteria counter.

How could a school be conducted without supplies? Whenever books, pads, or pencils are needed Mr. Walter E. Leach is the person who supplies them.

Hope High is indebted to these responsible people.

Awaiting the call to duty are two Hope custodians.





in its eagerness

The touchdowns we didn't make —
The deadlines we couldn't meet —
The goals not quite achieved —
The victories alluding our grasp —
All these—today's major disappointments —
Fade into insignificance
When Today, inevitably, becomes Yesterday.
The heartaches that crushed us down —
The tides that turned against us—
The "might-have-beens" that bruised the spirit —
They loom so large with hurt.
Yet, with each seeming defeat
Close upon our setbacks
Strength was renewed from struggle
Character tempered in tribulation.
Two steps forward—one back
Final goal yet ahead.
Tears with laughter come hand-in-hand
In tomorrow's brave new world.
Thus—life's lesson of HOPE.

Student Council

This year has been one of rejuvenation for the Hope High student council. At the beginning of the year, a pamphlet containing an introduction to Hope, a map of the school, the school rules, and cheers was compiled by the student council. This pamphlet proved to be invaluable to entering 10B's. The student council has also changed the method of voting for class officers. The new method gives students with initiative and desire the opportunity to seek offices. The student council, composed of the presidents and vice presidents of each class, has certainly made it voice heard this year.

Hostesses

The newly formed hostess group has proved its usefulness in maintaining order and decorum at graduation, Honors Day, and other events taking place at Hope High School. The girls seat the audience, pass out programs, and brighen the auditorium with their pleasant smiles.

Some hostesses gather for last minute preparations.

JUNIOR ALLIANCE FRANCAISE

The Junior Alliance Française provides the opportunity for French students throughout the state to become familiar with many aspects of French culture by attending and participating in the divers programs arranged by Madame Valentine Pinoccole.

CHORALE

A popular activity for the musical members of Hope's student body is the chorale, directed by Mrs. Wadsworth. With voices blended in harmony, the chorale provides excellent musical entertainment at the Christmas assembly and other school functions.

Future Teachers

Meeting once a month, the members of Hope's Future Teachers Club became acquainted with various aspects of their chosen profession through movies, trips and lectures. These students, under the direction of Mrs. Anne Carlton, receive advice which will aid them in the future.

Future Nurses

The Future Nurses Club offers girls who are interested in the medical field the opportunity to learn more about their chosen career. These girls, supervised by Miss Mary E. Orchestra and Band

This year the orchestra, under the able and competent direction of Benjamin Premack, had a very successful season. Playing at assemblies, these music-minded students received great insight into the treasure of music.

For the first time in recent Hope history, the band performed at football games and pep rallies, attired in their new uniforms. The band is under the direction of Mr. Halliwell.

On the whole the students in both activities have concentrated this year in building a working repetoire so that next year will be even better.

Hope Log

The members of the Hope Log, under the direction of Miss Elaine Annotti, work with energy and enthusiasm to gather news, meet deadlines and make the Log new and interesting.

The various staffs, busines and advertising, circulation and publicity, sports and photography, work together with the page editors to create the Log and send it to the press.

Covering the activities, sports events and outstanding people and happenings at school, the Log is really the messenger of Hope.

"Oh, here it is" says Mr. Paul Mirante, adviser to the Blue and White.

creating the blue and white . . .

Rain, shine, sleet, or snow, the loyal members of the Blue and White staff devotedly attended meetings throughout the summer and each Friday night throughout the school year. Ideas came, and went, some were used and some were disregarded. Little by little the theme was interwoven with the book and the Blue and White began to take shape.

Tomorrow descended on the Blue and White staff in the form of demanding deadlines; sometimes met—and sometimes . . .

Pictures were taken, selected, and submitted to the layout editors who arranged them artistically. Suitable literary was composed, and typewriters clicked.

Determined members of the advertising staff harassed business men in hope of at least a "one half page ad."

During the composition of the book other groups such as the business, circulation and publicity staffs were busy selling the book.

After the last senior picture and current sports scores were in the book it was sent to the press.

Any weather finds the advertising staff on the job. First Row: Delaney, M., White, J. Second Row: Israel, M., Sofro, S., Goldstein, B., Phillips, E. Third Row: Markoff, J., Korn, S.

Handicapped by slow first halves, Hope's 1960 grid forces' last rallies usually fell short of the mark. Although aided by class A players Herb McMillan, Ron Barboza, Bill Guy, Charlie Riter, and Jerry Kapstein, the Blue Waves' opponets always seemed to have just a little more. However, for the second consecutive year, Hope downed inter-city rival Classical, 14-7, in the Round Robin.

After beating the Purple, Hope whipped class C champion Barrington. The game was highlighted by the flashy running of Herb McMillan, who scored twice, and the fine playing of linemen Miles Holmes and Ron Barboza.

Following four defeats, the Wave bounced back to jolt Central, 9-0, via a 32 yard pass from Jerry Kapstein to Bill Guy. The unyielding defense, led by Martesian, Lynch, and DiMaio, kept Central on their own half of the field for most of the game.

Next season, head coach Mullen and his line coach, Mr. Sarkesian, will be without the services of Terry Martesian, Charlie Riter, Steve DiMaio, Miles Holmes, Bill Guy, John Hart, Jerry Kapstein, Herb McMillan, and Mike Sears.

o championship.

This year, Hope's cross country team went undefeated for the first time in many years. Coach Falk's harriers, including many veterans as well as sophomores, were captained by Tom Cannon, Pat McConagy, and Norm Lambert. The team won championship titles in every Rhode Island meet in which it entered. The addition of new teams to the City Meet failed to stop the Blue Wave as they swept to victory time and again. Harvey Franklin easily won the race and became City Champion. Tom Cannon, Norm Lambert, Pat and Bill McConagy, Bob Bonin, John Grant, John Morgan, and Ed Burgess followed Harvey across the line in the victory. The following week Hope won the Class A championship at Warwick when Harvey Franklin edged Cranston's Lee Daneker in the final 200 yards. Although handicapped by the loss of Tom Cannon, Hope attained their final victory in winning the State Crown. The victorious seven were Harvey Franklin, Norm Lambert, Pat and Bill McConagy, John Grant, Bob Bonin, and John Morgan. The following week at Boston's Franklin Park, Harvey Franklin led Rhode Island finishing with a sixth place in the New England Championships. Veterans Harvey Franklin, Bill McConagy, Bob Bonin, and Joe Cannon will form the nucleus of next year's team.

Harrier co-captains, Pat McConagy, Tom Cannon, and Norm Lambert, join hands with Coach Falk for a successful season.

another great year chalk

With Ekdahlian precision, Gil clears the bar.

Going through a season in a sport which seems to be Hope's specialty, the trackmen swept through all opponents and again captured the state crown. They extended their unbroken chain of victories in dual meet competition to the unbelievable total of 33. The Falkmen collected titles in the Relay Carnival, University of Rhode Island Interscholastics, City Championship, Class A Championship, and the State Championship.

Lummer Jennings, a mainstay since his Sophomore year, paced the trackmen as one of the leading scorers. Gil Ekdahl never failed to add a good number of points from the high jump and the high and low hurdles. Sure point getters for Hope this year are Alan Litchman, (440), John Warner (discus), Joe Allesandrini (hammer), "Tube" Hanel (shot put), Harvey Franklin (880), Frank Nesbitt (hurdles) and Norm Lambert (mile). These trackmen will make up for the loss of January graduates John Morgan, Herbie McMillan, Charlie Price, Dennis Ferriera, Bill Guy, Fred Jackson and Clyde Holland.

They did it again! The Blue Wave indoor track team is once more a State Champion. Although the meet was a close one all the way, Hope pulled away from Barrington and Warwick in the final events. The climatic moment of the meet came when Harvey Franklin broke his own record in the 1000-yard run, set just weeks before, by running the distance in 2:24.3. Frank Nesbitt really sparkled in the meet, also. He tied the state record for the low hurdles three times as he sped to victory in the heats and final. He also won the high hurdles. Lummer Jennings copped the 40-yard dash for the third consecutive year, and took second in the 300-yard dash.

One of the big highlights of the season was the B.A.A. Meet, when Hope became the first out-of-state team to win that meet. They won without taking a first place, however, they had some very fine performances: John Warner, Lummer Jennings, Frank Nesbitt, and Harvey Franklin all took second in their respective events.

Hope should remain strong next season with Harvey Franklin, Ben Johnson, Domingo Carriea, and Al Litchman returning to bolster the squad in "62."

After turning up with impressive victories over Tolman, New Bedford, Sacred Heart, Westerly, La Salle, and East Providence, the Blue Wave hit the road for games with Bishop Cheverus of Maine and Portsmouth High of New Hampshire.

On December 27, Hope met a strong and powerful Cheverus quintet, and went away with a 50-46 victory. Two nights later Hope stacked up against Portsmouth High, another formidable foe. After a close first quarter, the Blue Wave breezed home with a 63-39 victory.

On January 3, the Blue Bombers met Warwick in its Metropolitan Division opener. With "Easy Al" Lopes accounting for 18 points in the first half and Carl Chace taking over in the second half when he posted 10, Hope was never behind. In addition to Lopes and Chace, Norm Lambert scored 12 points.

Quarter backed by "Tiny Tom" Cannon, Hope rolled up victories over Hendricken, Rogers, Mt. Pleasant, LaSalle, Cranston, East Providence, and Central. After defeating Rogers 64-53 in a first round contest that was close until the fourth quarter, many observers felt that it would be Roger's turn the next time.

On February 3, a capacity crowd jammed the Hope High gym to witness this second contest. With the defensive play of Norm Lambert, Tom Cannon, and Al Fisher, the rebounding of Al Lopes, and the superior shooting of Henry Giroux and Carl Chase, Hope romped to a 72-43 victory. The Blue Wave won their remaining league games and captured the Metropolitan Division Title without a single loss.

Following a two week lay-off Hope entered the play-offs risking a 22-0 record. In the first game, Hope came from behind and defeated the Warwick quintet 72-52. For that comeback, Hope had to summon up a couple of highly capable spares, Ernie Medeiros and Al Fisher. Norm Lambert's scoring on a jump shot with five seconds remaining boosted Hope into the state schoolboy basketball finals with a 54-52 triumph over Rogers. After these two sub-par performances, Hope blasted East Providence 71-50 in the title scrap.

As a result of "Easy Al" Lopes' superlative performance in the final game, he was chosen the most valuable player. Lopes, Cannon and Chase shared all-tourney first team honors and Norm Lambert was named to the second team.

After whipping Spaulding High of Vermont 91-64 in the opening round of the New England Basketball Tournament, Hope was beaten by Wilbur Cross, the defending champions, in the semi-finals, 65-56. Hope, even though beaten, was far from outclassed. The Hope quintet had led by 3 points at the end of three quarters only to hit a cold streak in the final quarter. Many observers felt that this was the best team that ever represented Rhode Island.

Other Hope hoopsters whose presence was felt throughout the season include Herb McMillan, John Lynch, Joe Cannon, Joe Costello, and Bill McConaghy.

Hope's exultant team mobs Sears as they win the state championship.

This year, when the Blue Bladesmen copped the hockey State Championship (for the second consecutive year), Hope became the first school in history to capture three state athletic titles in one winter season. The Blue Wave surpassed all pre-season expectations as they successfully held a second place spot in league play by losing only three games in sixteen encounters. The Mullenmen uprooted last year's rival, Burriville, in the semi-finals of the State playoffs by blanking the Broncos twice after suffering a defeat in their first playoff clash. Meeting a highly rated LaSalle sextet in the State finals, the Wave split the first two games with the Maroon, but sparked in the rubber as they handed LaSalle their only shutout of the season.

With the return of last year's all-staters, Bob Gaudreau and Mike Sears, coaches Ed Mullen and Leo Kranules combined strategy with the will to win, and turned out another championship sextet in the 1960-1961 season. The forward attacks of Bill Piccirillo, Fred Reall, Bud Cunningham, and State high scorer, Bob Gaudreau, proved effective as the Hope Bladesmen established an outstanding offensive record. Defensively, John Lynch, Bud Cunningham, and Bob Gaudreau, along with the spectacular netminding of Mike Sears, turned out an equally impressive defensive record. Not to be forgotten is the ever-hustling combination of Paul Mori, Jerry Candelmo, Joe Barboza, and goaltender Don Henson, who showed finesse and desire throughout the season.

Sears makes a sensational save as he stops the puck with his skate.

Too many sticks spoil the . . .

hope's wrestlers and fencers

The wrestling team enjoyed its best season ever, both as a team and on an individual basis. The team finished 6th in the Interscholastic Wrestling league standings by compiling a 3 and 5 record.

Capt. Miles Holmes, Hope's most outstanding wrestler, performed brilliantly all season. He climaxed his senior campaign by winning the New England Championship in the 147 lb. class, after having defeated the Conn. and R.I. State Champions. Holmes thus became the 1st matman in Hope's history to win a N. E. Championship. He also placed second in the R.I. State Meet at Brown Univ. and received the 1st Annual Coaches' Trophy as high point scorer on the team.

Billy Hickey and Eddie Lyons, two promising matmen, exhibited their potential by gaining first place medals in the Annual J.V. Tournament held at LaSalle Academy. Billy Hickey also became the recipient of the first Annual Coaches' Trophy as the most improved wrestler on the squad.

With "tempered" blades and great finesse, the Hope foilsmen turned in a fairly good record. Although the season was shortened by Central's dropping out of the league, there remained the same competitive spirit. Coached by Mr. Edward McGunagle, Zavin Barsamian was able to reach the finals in the rivalry for City Championship.

Sparked by the pitching of Russ Thompson, Carl Sudakoff, Bill Piccirillo, and Bob Beauchemin, Hope ended its 1960 baseball season having won 7 times and bowing in defeat, 9. Cranston, State Champs, and Mount Pleasant were the only teams able to beat the Blue Wave in two consecutive attempts. Backboned by Carl Chace, Mike Sears, Doug Silverman, Bob Kozak, and Bill Piccirillo, Hope's diamond forces downed cross-city rival, Classical, twice, but split the two game series with every other opponent, excepting, of course, Cranston and Mount Pleasant.

Mr. Donovan, hoping to coach the team to its best season yet, will be aided again this year by Carl Chace, Mike Sears, Bill Piccirillo, and Al Fisher.

course and court

Last year's netmen fared "not so well" as their ranks were sadly depleted as a result of ineligibility. However, depth and experience will be the prominent features of Hope's 1961 team. Spear-headed by Co-captains Saul Korn and Don Henson, and returning veterans Jeff Lozow, Wayne Pomiansky, Harold Lavine, and Jerry Schneider, this year's Blue and White netmen, guided by the able coaching of Howie Goldsmith, are confident of victory. Newcomers George Brathwait, Aaron Sherman, Tony Rossi, Edward Shein, Richard Block, and Jordon Hill are expected to further strengthen this crack team.

The 1961 golf team will start its season in a new division because of the addition of several teams in the league. Though relatively young in experience last year, Hope spirit prevailed, and the boys proved to be stiff competition for the older teams. Coach James McCaughey has initiated an extensive training program in the hope of effecting a more experienced and better balanced squad. Although the team will be lacking the services of last year's captain, Phil Weinstein, it will be fortified by returning golfers, Bob Sutcliffe, Jim Poirier, Jerry Deignan, and Eugene Simone with the end result that all are confident of making a "good show."

sportsmanship . . .

Since its inception in 1955, the girls' intramural sports program has broadened in scope, and increased in enthusiasm. Today the program embraces competition in volley ball, tennis, badminton, table tennis, basketball, swimming, bowling, and soft ball. The program covers an eight week period for each individual sport.

Hope High girls take a hand at badminton on Tuesday afternoons under the direction of Miss Agnes Flaherty. Margie Cabana and Phyliss Kelvin excel in this sport.

Thursday is tennis day at Hope. A large and enthusiastic group enjoy themselves as they increase their skills in this popular sport.

skills . . .

Two popular activities in the program are swimming and softball. Carol Leamy, Frieda Brooks, Betty Bennet, Geraldine Venable and Barbara Montiero emerged as outstanding in spirited softball contests.

Those notable for their swimming abilities were Lillian O'Rourke, Rondell Stokes, Jean Plate, and Corrine Goldenberg.

After completing these, girls are awarded certificates and a small "H" on a blue diamond. Any girl who earns eight certificates is awarded her major letter.

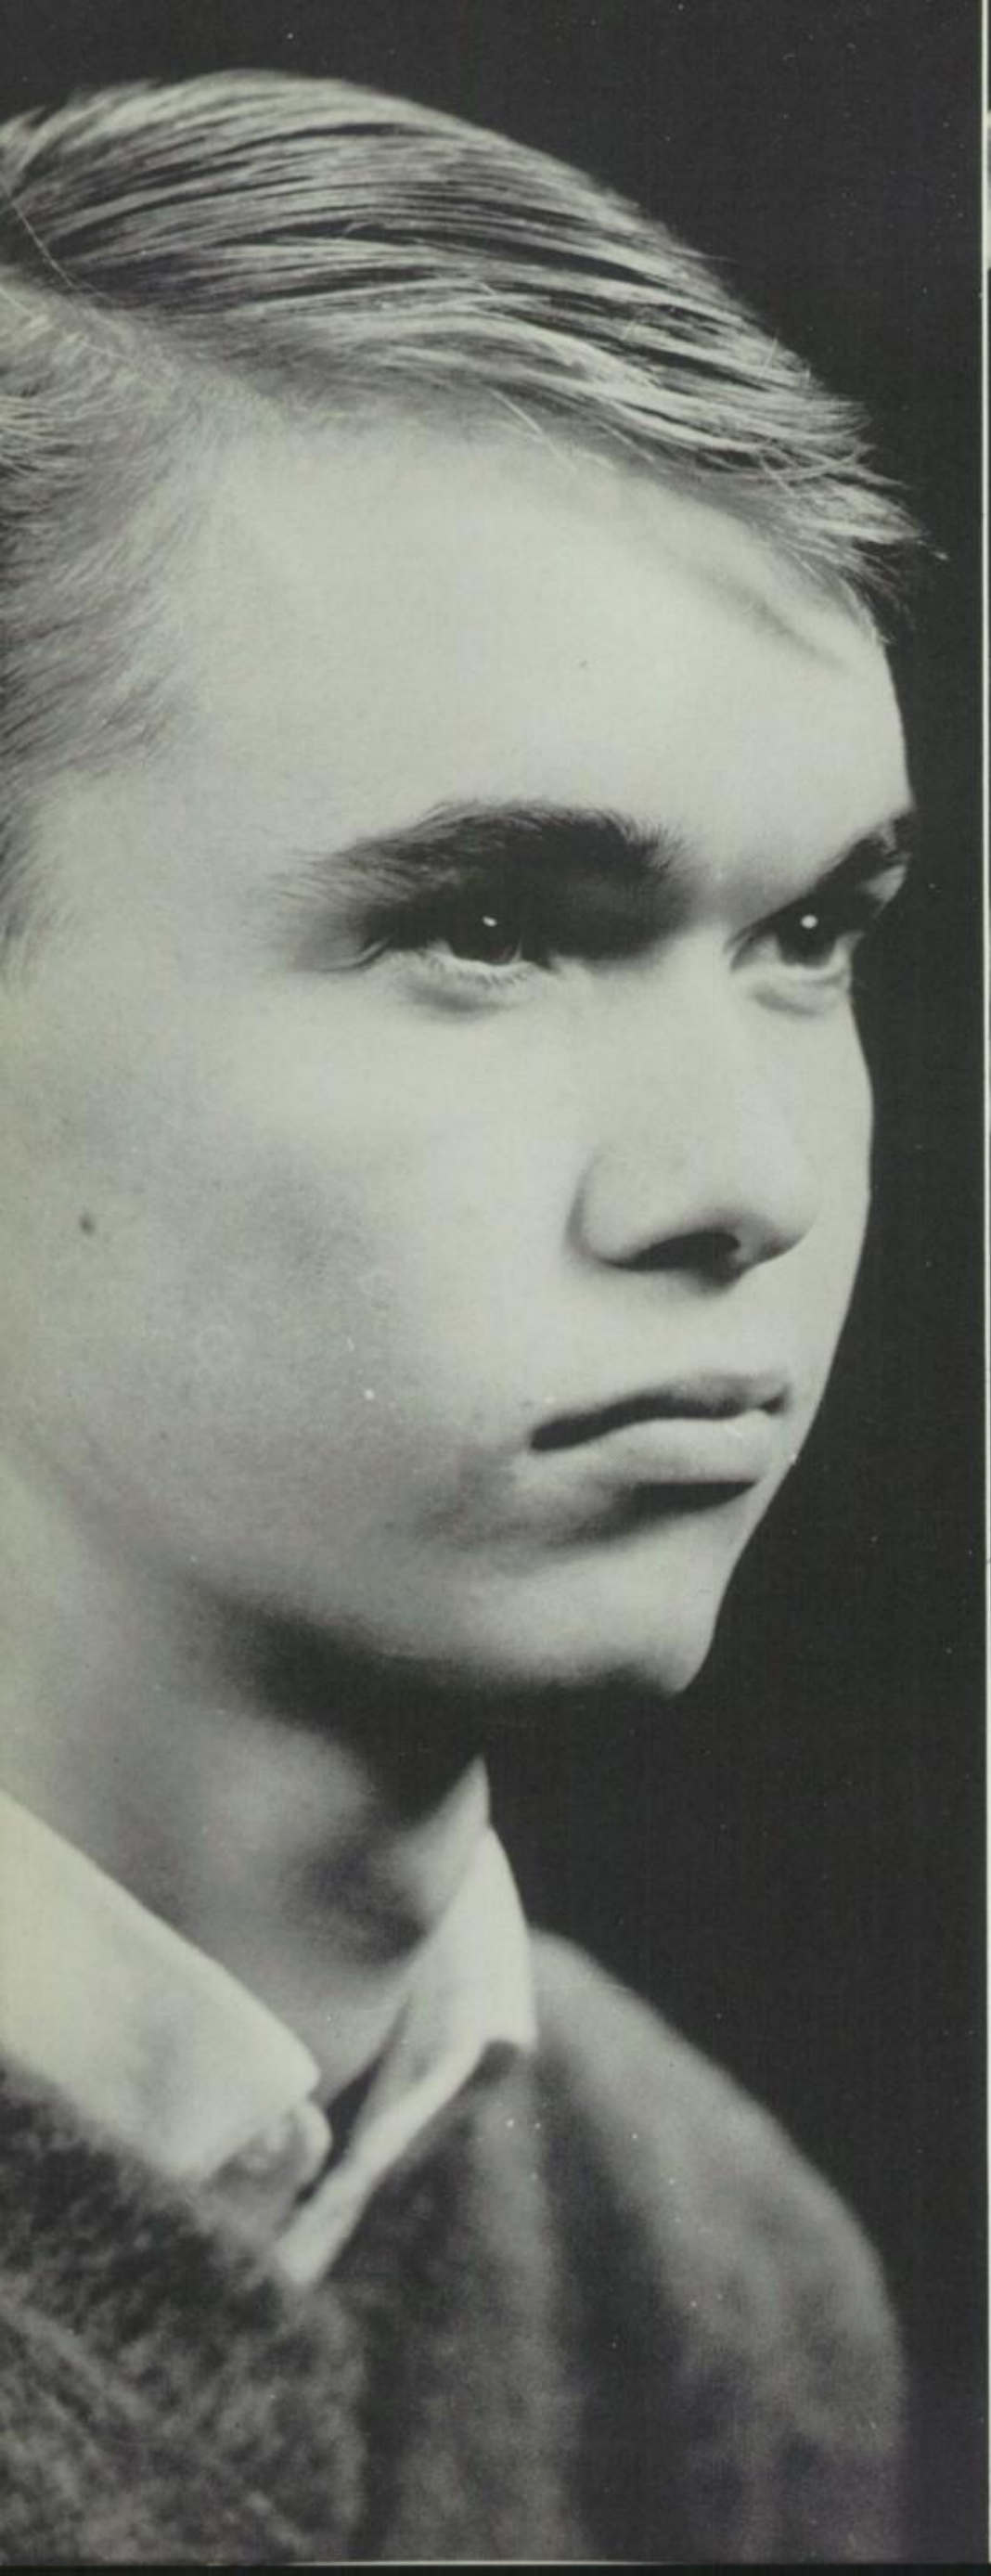
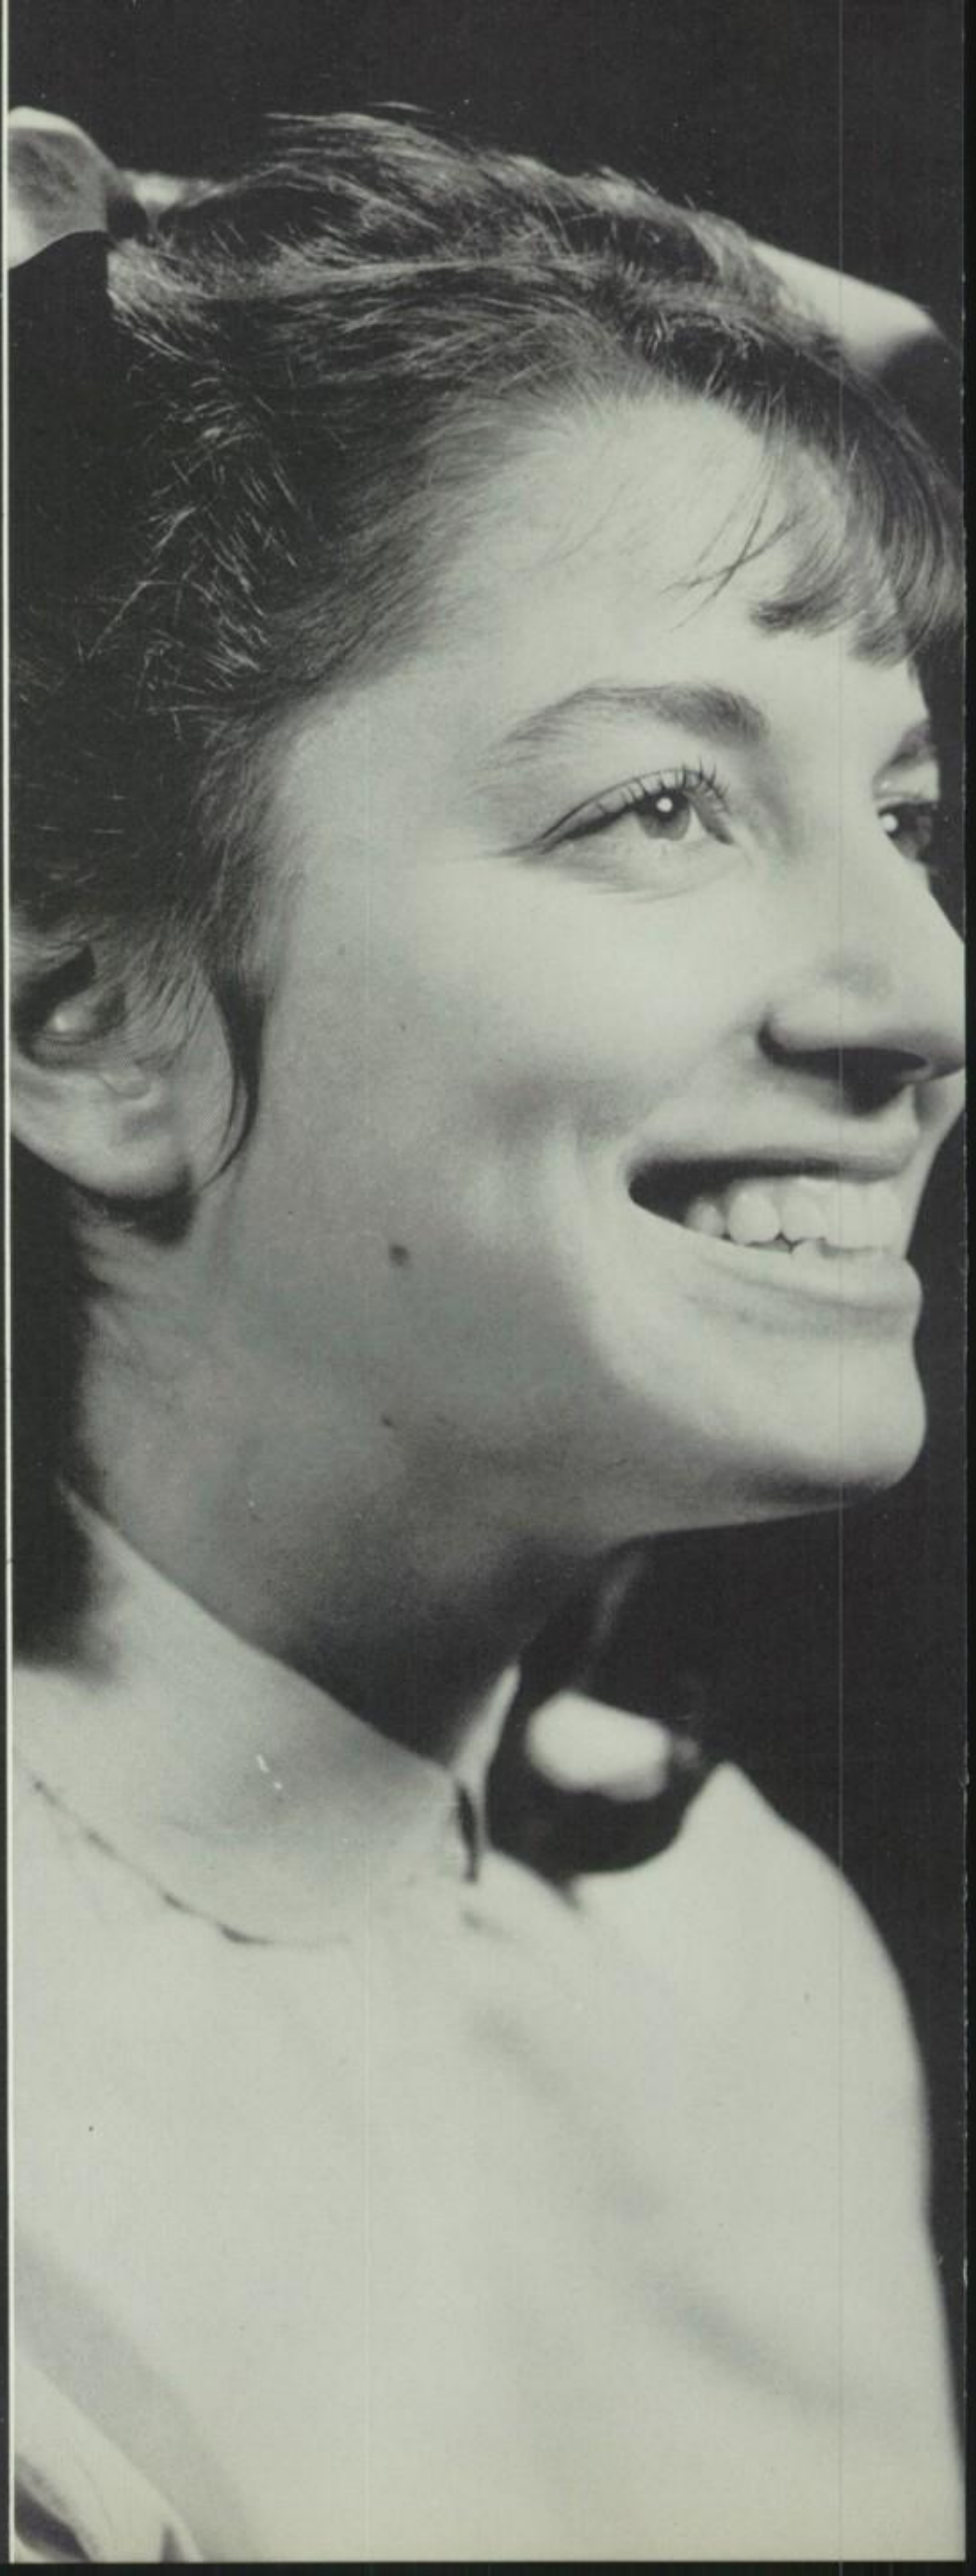
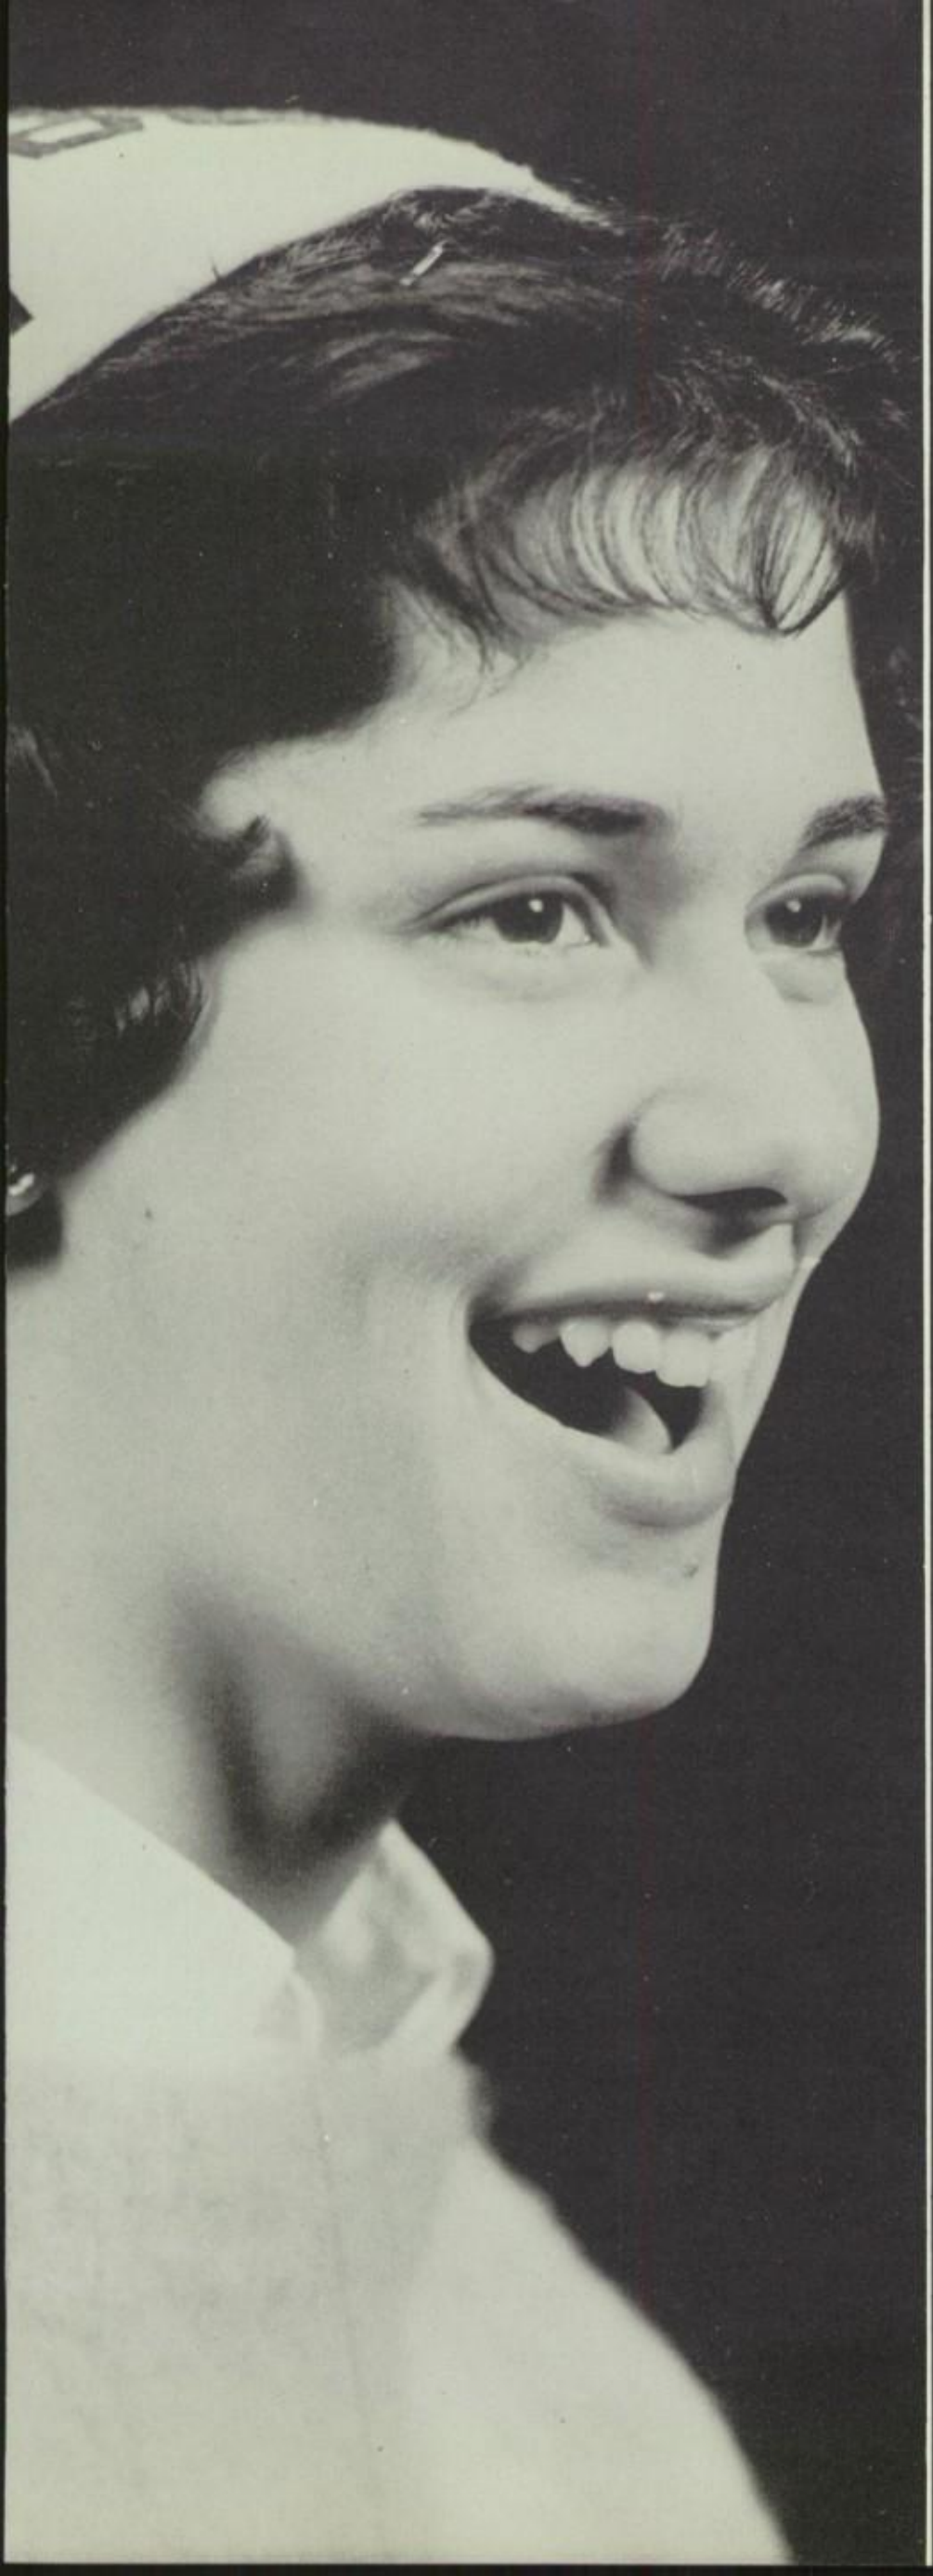
Monday afternoon sessions in table tennis are under the direction of Miss Helen Wrynn. A table tennis tournament was organized. Thirty-two girls participated. Outstanding players were Jane Shorter, Susan Wunsch, Sandra Mullaney, Marjorie Cahant, Shirley Clark, and Gail Fracusso. On Wednesday organized teams compete in exciting volley ball games. Girls who showed outstanding ability were chosen as captains. The girls were Katherine Mortimer, Lucille Wood, Ruth Smith, Judy Washington, Betty Dunningan, and Ann Mellor.







in its spirit

Youth —
Dynamic, abounding with vitality,
Incredibly naive,
Yet sophisticated far beyond our years.
Assailed by countless fears,
We stand ready to challenge the world.
Rejecting adult authority,
But nevertheless
Avidly hungry for its approval.
Cynically skeptical,
Yet idealistic at heart
We stand ready to give our all
To perpetuate our ideals.
We are full of contradictions
And inconsistencies,
Yet we have a priceless gift,
Unappreciated
Until it has escaped our grasp, "love of life."

year of trimph

Sixty one, a year never to be forgotten, found Hopeites bursting with a new and exuberant spirit. Attendance at athletic functions reached an all time high as students flocked to games to cheer proudly for their school. This pride was justified as the Blue Wave won victory after victory.

Triumph was not limited to the field of athletics, for Hopeites diligently applied themselves in the classrooms as well. Following the shining example of the seniors, undergraduates joined proudly into the spirit of Hope. Together, seniors and undergrads made nineteen-sity-one a year of triumph.

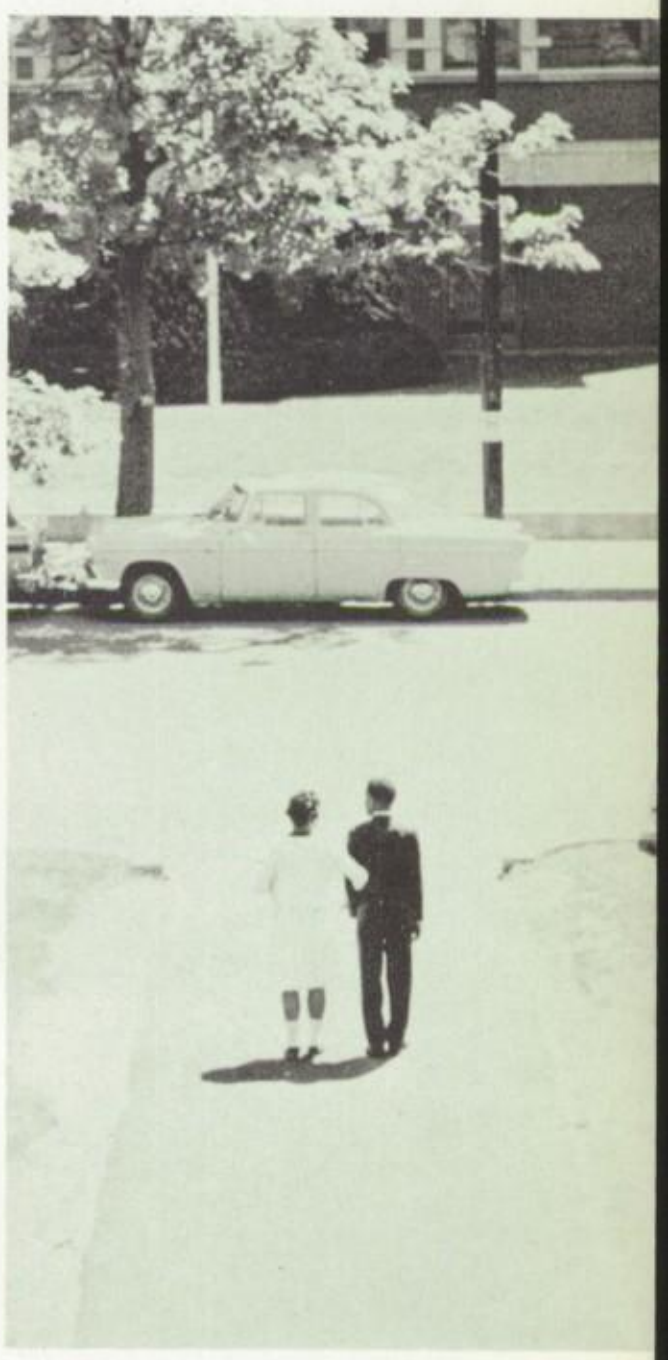
irst glimpse of hope, leave for summer vacation

A deserted school is a sign of summer.



After a few months at Hope, two sophomores leave for summer vacation.

The senior play cast applauds warmly for Mr. Sparrow as he takes his bow.

"Look, I'm going to be an actress! It's in the Wollaston News," exclaims Ruth to her mother and best girlfriend, Katherine.

Ruth sets out for the road to stardom.

"Clinton, you're a fine man," declares Mrs. Jones happily.

Excitement flows,
Memories prevail
Today is graduation.
Youth—
Apprehensive of the future
Yet confident of success
Slowly walks forward.
Caps on heads with tassels swishing,
Youth—
Tears glistening
Smiles frozen
Unhappy yet jubilant
Slowly walks down the aisle.
Diplomas clutched in hand,
Youth—
But yet not
Adults—
But yet not youth
Slowly walk on
Into the future
Into the unknown
Into the world of Tomorrow.
For in Today already walks Tomorrow.

grateful to . . . mr. mirante

An office filled with students is not unusual for Mr. Mirante.

A friendly smile and a few assuring words are very important to students lost in the image of high-school. Miss Wells was a remarkable guidance counselor whose advice proved infallible. After a few moments spent in consultation with her, elation replaced dejection; optimism replaced pessimism. When, due to illness, Miss Wells found it necessary to leave Hope for an indefinite length of time, the January senior class was very fortunate to receive Mr. Paul Mirante as her replacement. Mr. Mirante, who was formerly an instructor in the business department, has devoted a great deal of his time to helping students select a college or choose a business career. Hope students are very grateful to these guidance counselors for making their years at Hope both challenging and rewarding.

DENNIS AWARD

Each year, the name of an outstanding student in the graduating class appears on a bronze plaque in honor of his notable achievements. This award is given in the momory of the late Charles E. Dennis, Jr., former teacher and principal of Hope High School. The recipient ot this award is chosen on the basis of outstanding scholastic ability and the qualities of loyalty, leadership, and initiative.

HONORS' DAY

The Honors' Day exercises consist of the awarding of the Rhode Island Honor Society pins, the Anthony Medal, the presentation of the Charles E. Dennis Award, and the secretarial award, the Louis S. Marren Award. At these exercises the students who have maintained their scholastic average throughout their years at Hope are honored by their principal, parents and fellow students.

MAN IS THE MEASURE OF ALL THINGS

by

Judith Paris

Today, when more than one half the world is being taught that man is the tool of the state, it is essential that we strengthen our belief that man is really the measure of all things. With our burgeoning population, this is becoming more difficult. Many people have found that they can no longer subsist without help from the state, in our own case, the United States Government. As our population grows, more help will be needed. Help that does not come from one's own labors tends to undermine an individual's self-respect. How can we prevent this demoralization, and at the same time, further the idea that man is supreme, second only to God?

I think that one of the most important things is that we accept our worldy possessions for what they are. More than one person has died physically or emotionally because he let himself be used by inanimate objects instead of his using them. When Hitler started persecuting minorities, his object was to force these people to leave the country so that he could confiscate their properties and possessions. Many of the people left, but those who stayed where their possessions were soon found themselves in concentration camps and crematoriums. Everything that one owns is only as good as man has made it.

Another important thing is that we make use of our facilities for self-government. We Americans are very fortunate to live in a country where the government was created to serve the people instead of vice versa. If a man needs free medical care and votes for this bill through the process called referendum, he will feel that he is receiving this aid through his own efforts. We can take pride in our government because our government is "the people."

What has made man what he is? Certainly there are animals that can run faster, climb higher, and swim deeper than man; but through his superior mind, man has overcome these obstacles. He has built vehicles which will overtake the swiftest antelope, has built planes which will climb higher than any bird, and has built submarines which will descend almost as deep as any fish. The secret of man is not only his superior brain but his spirit.

The Bible states that "God created man in His own Image." If this be so, man was meant to be the supreme being on earth; therefore man is the measure of all things.

THE MOST IMPORTANT DECISION I HAVE MADE

by

Frederick Jackson

You, as a human being, have something within you that makes you superior to any of the earthly creations of God or men. This is the ability to think, to reason, to make decisions. It is very important, especially if you are still young, to make yourself aware of the fact that you can and do make decisions, and that the majority of these decisions influence other persons as well as yourself. It may take but a moment to make a choice, but that choice may mean the difference between right and wrong, success and failure, happiness and sorrow. Such a decision may have an effect on you for eternity, if you can imagine how long eternity is.

I realize that I have made many bad and some good decisions. Can you deny that you have been making decisions all your life? I cannot. Can you deny that decisions determine the course of your life? I cannot. Can you deny that some choices made, or judgments passed, have greater importance than others? I definitely cannot.

We must ask ourselves, "where do we get these great abilities of ours? Are decisions really so important? Which decisions are more important than others? How can we be sure that we are making the right choice in life?"

Much to the disbelief of many men of worldly knowledge, human beings are creations and have a Creator. Is it not logical to reason that the source of all our existence is the source of all our attributes, including the ability to make decisions

From the very beginning God has provided the human race with the privilege to choose or make decisions. The first choice given man was the choice between obedience and its converse, disobedience to God. You have heard of Adam and Eve. You know that their decision not only influenced them but also caused mankind to die even today. Can you not see then, that this decision of Adam and Eve was the greatest made by any man since creation? If you can, you must realize that the most important decision one can make is the one that concerns his obedience to his Creator, his God.

How can one be certain that he is making the right decisions in life? The answer is to find out just what God expects of him. When you want to know a definition, you turn to the dictionary. When you want the answer to a science or math problem, you turn to the teacher of the subject. Likewise, when you have a question about God, you can only find the sure answer by turning to Him through His inspired writings. Whether you are Christian or Jew, you can find the basis for making decisions in your own Bible or Scripture.

Amazed at the tremendous amount of knowledge revealed in its pages, I recently began to study the Bible and its modern day application. It was not long before I realized that I had choices to make that were comparable to the decisions placed before Adam and Eve, although my decisions cannot be as significant. After what seemed like an extremely long period of study and self-analysis, I made the most important decision of my life. I have decided to dedicate my life to my Creator, to follow His commands, and to serve Him actively. My decision has changed my life greatly; I hope it will help others to do the same.

Now, consider yourself. Are you taking full advantage of your ability to think, to reason, to make decisions?

A worried parent is reassured that her son will graduate by Mr. Lorenzo.

we are grateful to . . . mr. lorenzo

Looking back over three years spent at Hope, the seniors of June, sixty-one, recognize the indispensability of Mr. Amadeo D. Lorenzo. Whenever he was needed he was there, ready to give all the sympathy and undrstanding which each individual problem required.

Every senior is grateful to Mr. Lorenzo for the generous assistance, skillful instruction, and sound advice cheerfully administered.

Eager seniors plan their future with Mr. Lorenzo.

Mr. Amadeo Lorenzo seems pleased with the results of the College Board Examinations.

My Responsibilities As An American

Jeremy A. Kapstein

President Kennedy said to me in his inaugural address: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." I believe that as a responsible citizen I must heed this significant statement and guide my actions accordingly.

My most important responsibility as an American is to support education. Because our land is a democracy, the quality of American education determines the quality of our government and of our national standards.

I believe that I can best support education by taking fullest advantage of all the educational opportunities given to me. I should also try to see that American education is the best possible that our country can provide.

The teacher must be highly-respected and well-paid, for the destiny of our nation lies in his hands. He should too be rewarded for outstanding service. For example, outstanding French teachers should be sent to France by our government; and outstanding teachers of American History, around our land at government expense.

Even if our way of life were not threatened by communism, American education should be the best that our vast material resources can provide. I believe, however, that the struggle between freedom and tyranny will not be decided on the missile ranges, but rather in the classrooms of East and West. Therefore with our resources our teachers should not be handicapped either by inadequate physical facilities.

I should try to see that American education teaches to all Americans not only facts, but an appreciation of the American heritage, the importance of the dignity of the individual in our democratic society, and the ability to think independently, always motivated by the concept of freedom for all men. American education should teach us the value of our sacred rights and the responsibilities which every citizen must proudly shoulder. I know that I protect and nourish the American way of life when I actively support education.

My American education has taught me several other sacred responsibilities. I must take an active interest in current local, national, and international affairs, and keep continually well informed on them.

I must not be afraid to speak out against events which threaten the American way of life—opportunity for all. Not only should I protect freedom by serving in the military, but by speaking out whenever the democratic rights of my fellow Americans are threatened. When a fellow citizen is denied the opportunity for "life, liberty, an dthe pursuit of happiness," because of his race, creed, or color, I must feel it as a personal blow to my democratic rights.

I should always abide by the laws of our nation, and I should reflect in my everyday life the pride that I feel as an American.

As an. American, I have the privilege to support actively and to vote for the men who will guide our government. I should always try to see that these men are the best qualified and the highest principled men in my city, state, and nation.

These are the responsibilities which I enjoy as an American citizen. Let me always remember the words of President Kennedy: "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country."

Trivialities

Ann Holzinger

I often walk alone. I cannot rightly say why, but frequently I have felt an indescribable urge to be alone with my. thoughts—thoughts which many might call insignificant and unimportant. I wonder at the way I have lived and shall live; whether I have chosen for myself the right vocation; whether I shall ever understand the many wonders of this great world and its surrounding universe. I stand beside a rose-bush and think of the mysterious precision with which each petal was placed in its own spot, and I wander through a field of grain, remarking on how here I can be supreme: I can destroy a rose by crushing its petals, and I can devastate a grain field by the mere flick of a match. With a stamp of my foot, I am able to wipe out a colony of ants, and with a simple flexing of my wrist, I can kill an insect.

All of these things: a field of grain, a rose, an insect are quite often said to be trivialities. I wonder, though. Are any seemingly insignificant objects really trivial? In anything genuinely trivial whether in the world of nature or ideas? All things start with a spark, an idea, or possibly a conjecture; oftentimes these sparks die, yet there are instances where they do not die; they grew into something wonderful, something remarkable, something that could very possibly change the whole outcome of an individual's life—yet it originated with a simple inspiration, a "trivial" thought.

A blade of grass, on first thought, seems picayune, but, when one muses for awhile, he realizes that grass, so small and petty, feeds animals; animals, in turn, feed us.

A minute seed, one which seems lost in relation to the size of your palm seems paltry. However, plant it in the soil, water and nurture it with care, and it begins to grow. In its mature form, that seed will either yield beauty to its surroundings or bear food which could conceivably build strength and happiness in a helpless family.

Each thing upon this earth is important; each thing has a purpose, or it never would have been put there. No matter how big or small it may be, it serves some use, though we may not know what it is. Our Creator produced a world alive with mysteries. He put upon it creatures and objects ranging from the lowest form of vegetation to man, and man is said to be supreme, for he alone has a mind which builds huge bridges, constructs buildings, and perhaps lives a life of ease. He has a brain which craves knowledge, and each "trivial" idea which is cultivated there, expands and becomes more than a thought.

Who are we to say what is a triviality? Looking around me, I see nothing which is completely unimportant. Who knows? I am one among millions, so very possibly I am a triviality. I do not believe this, though, for my Creator made me for some reason, and I intend to search for it until I am doing what I believe He wished that I do.

Mr. McGonagle mimeographs a poster for the Blue and White.

Mrs. Strauss has provided valuable assistance to the yearbook staff.

thanks to . . .

Miss Burnham is responsible for the Blue and White advertising throughout the school.

George Avakian, the yearbook advisor at Lorings, has given his time and effort to the Blue and White.

The members of the 1961 Blue and White wish to thank the many people who, although not on the yearbook staff, contributed their time and effort to the last.

During the summer, Mrs. Strauss, George Avakian, and Ted Berger and Judy Chernack gave invaluable advice and assistance.

During the school year Miss Burnham and Mr. Dattorro gave artistic advice, Mr. McGonagle helped by mimeographing and Mr. Ruoff helped with Blue and White account.

Special thanks go to Mr. Paul Mirante, advisor for the Blue and White.

The aid given by these people is greatly appreciated by every member of the Blue and White staff.

Mr. Ruoff has handled all financial matters for the Blue and White.

FROM FRIENDS

When you graduate it's wonderful to have a telephone job waiting for you. You'll love the friendly new people you meet. And you'll like the excellent salary, the regular increases, the opportunities for advancement and the many additional benefits that make working for the Telephone Company so attractive to so many young people.

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.

Today—
we stand together
facing the unknown
darkness around us . . .
a light glimmers faintly
the light is our goal distant at first seemingly out of reach . . .
confident yet hesitant
we slowly move toward it cherishing our dreams
    our hopes our ideals
before we realized
today became tomorrow filled with demands
    life's responsibilities
but today has prepared us for what tomorrow may bring
